Posses Trailing Convict Band

Youths Held As Hostages Of Convicts

Cammins Prison Farm, Ark.—(P)—Sudden death and recapture today cut swiftly into the list of 30 convicts who shot their way to freedom here yesterday, but one desperate band still held three youthful hostages in nearby Louisiana.

Posses gunned down one of the six holding two kidnapped girls and a boy in swamps near Columbia, La., and another of the fugitives was found dead on a sand-bar in the Arkansas river a few miles from the prison. He apparently waded while trying to swim the river after he and 35 other prisoners killed a guard and fled.

Cammins Prison Farm, Ark.—(P)—In posses in widely-separated areas of Arkansas and Louisiana a hot chase today for scattered members of a band of 30 convicts who killed a guard and wounded another in a Labor day escape from the Arkansas penitentiary.

Two of the ringleaders were captured after a 30-minute gun battle at Garland City in extreme southwestern Arkansas early today.

Later, a third convict, wounded in the arm and chin, was found hiding in a Negro cabin near Garland City. He was identified by officers as W. E. Barner of Union county.

Another band of five armed convicts, cornered along a highway near Columbia, La., at about the same time, killed Frank Garmann, a possessor, while using three youthful hostages as shields.

The convicts, surrounded in a clump of trees two miles northeast of Columbia, still had with them the two girls and a boy who were abducted yesterday when the men took their automobile at Rayville, La.

Garmann, Columbia automobile dealer, was shot and killed when, as a citizen-deputy, he approached the parked automobile of the convicts shortly after midnight.

Hold 3 Hostages
The abducted youths are Anna Laura Diamond, daughter of the Rayville marshal, Vencie Williams and Jerry Harnage, all about 16 to 17 years old.

Most of the fugitives were believed on foot in the dense woods and bottomlands surrounding this sprawling prison camp where the merit system, using trusty convicts for armed guards, has long been in force.

The break, biggest in Arkansas penal history, was led by four of these prison guards and four prisoners from the ranks. The break started in a pea field, far from the main prison compound, while a picking crew of 132 men and 10 guards recoiled after the noon meal.

The four renegade inmates began "arming" their fellow guards, quietly, but violence broke out when Frank Conley, 34, a rank man serving 21 years for robbery and kidnapping, attacked Troy Wade, a shotgun-armed guard, with a knife.

Shoots Down Guard
When Claude Martin, 41, another guard, started to lift his rifle, Conley seized Wade's gun and shot Martin in both barrels, prison authorities said.

As Martin fell face downward, they added, Percy Loftin, 25, a rifle-armed guard serving life plus 52 years for murder, kidnapping and robbery, shot Martin in the back, he died instantly. Wade was wounded slightly by the knife attack.

The other six guards then surrendered their weapons to Loftin and the three other trusty-ringleaders, R. R. Warner, 45, Drig Harvey, 29, and Barber Magby. These were aided by Conley, William Anderson, 38, William Heard, 32, and Leon Johnson, 32, in marching the other prisoners four miles through the woods to a point where the eight ringleaders rode away on horseback and the others fled on foot.

Magby and Johnson were captured in the fight at Garland City. Three other convicts with them escaped on foot into the Red river bottoms of Lafayette county.

Speech Controlled By Weather
Canadians are the most talkative people in the world, says a telephone expert. Each Canadian averages 222 phone calls per year. The U. S. average is 197. This is not surprising. Canada has a very cold climate and its inhabitants naturally require more heat than we do here.

In fact, a large proportion of telephone calls in the U. S. is used for classified want-ads which is a good thing all around, and there is no hot air in them. This one rented a farm.

British Drive Off Mass Raid Of Nazi Planes

Germans are Beaten Back Second Time In Attack on London

London —(P)—German air raiders, repulsed in one attempt to smash through London's air defenses, tried a second time early this afternoon amid mass assaults from the southeast coast to north-east Scotland.

An air-raid alarm, London's second of the day and the thirty-eighth of the war, sounded in the London area at 2:50 p. m. (7:50 a. m. C. S. T.).

The alarm lasted one hour and 10 minutes, ending at 4 o'clock p. m. (9 a. m. C. S. T.), after planes had been heard over the metropolitan area.

British and German planes fought spectacularly over the Thames estuary, waterway to London, marking the first anniversary of Britain's going to war with one of the conflict's biggest air battles.

Observers said about 300 raiders were beaten off by British fighters and ground defenses, the air ministry announced that 23 German planes had been destroyed in attacks on Britain today. It admitted that 15 British planes had been lost, but said eight of the pilots were known to be safe.

Air raids objectives
At least seven German raiders were reported shot down in the early phases of today's air fighting, three over the English channel, three others in an attack on the Thames estuary and another near a southeast coast town.

The main German attacks apparently were directed again chiefly at airbases in southeastern England, which have been attacked repeatedly since the Germans first broke through to the London area in force on Aug. 18 to bomb Croydon.

Meanwhile the admiralty announced that a Norwegian torpedo-boat cooperating with British naval forces had shot down a German dive bomber which attacked the torpedo-boat and a nearby merchant-ship.

In the earlier repulse of the German mass attack on the southeast coast, fighting lasted more than an hour before the Germans scattered and headed back over the channel.

The drone of many engines, bursts of machine-gun fire and the sight of falling planes told the story to watchers on the ground.

In one coastal district six airplanes were seen drifting down by parachute several miles from the shore.

Bases Will Keep Foe From Our Front Door, Roosevelt Asserts

Aboard Roosevelt Train Enroute to Washington.—(P)—President Roosevelt said today that the chief value of air and naval bases acquired in British crown colonies strewn from Newfoundland to British Guiana was that they would keep the enemy away from our front door.

They have got to get through there, Mr. Roosevelt said, before they can get to us.

The president's remarks came at a press conference on his special train that the acquisition of the bases was probably in some respects, the most important thing for American defense since the Louisiana purchase in 1803.

Furthermore, the president dropped what appeared to be a hint that further history-making steps might be taken to provide additional distant bases for the protection of America and the western hemisphere.

When a reporter inquired whether the agreement with England might lead to the postulation that a base would be established in Greenland, the president said he thought newsmen would refrain from writing that it was a forerunner of anything else.

Detectives Thomas Pickings and Arthur Allard, who last night seized Marion B. Pierce at a downtown bowling alley where he was employed as a pinboy, said he admitted his identity as one of the quintet whose escape spread terror in several cities of the midwest.

Pierce, 44, escaped from the Lima hospital New Year's day, 1939. His four companions all have been recaptured.

Detectives who arrested Pierce said a bowler had recognized him from a picture published in a detective story magazine.

80 Reservations are Made for Kant Dinner

About 80 reservations for the Sept. 10 testimonial dinner for Erwin Kant, Milwaukeean named president of National Credit Men's association, have been received, according to Kenneth Corbett, chairman of commerce secretary. About 200 are expected for the Riverview Country club affair, Karl M. Haug, committee chairman, has announced. Glenn Frank, candidate for United States senator and former University of Wisconsin president, will speak.

Britain Trades Naval and Air Bases for 50 U. S. Destroyers

Italy Says Small Planes Score Hits On British Ships

Rome.—(P)—Newly-formed squadrons of "picchiattelli" (little divers)—Italy's model of the dive bomber—were reported by the high command today to have surprised a British naval squadron and scored square hits on a battleship, an aircraft carrier, a cruiser and a destroyer in a furious attack.

The battle between the roaring little planes and the warships was said to have taken place in the "central Mediterranean," a part of the sea from which Italy has claimed to have driven the British.

An air battle occurred simultaneously with the air-sea fight, the high command said, but four British planes were sent crashing, while no Italian plane losses in that encounter were mentioned.

"Violent anti-aircraft reaction and sharp fighting with enemy pursuit planes failed to hinder the drive and ardor of our high-flying bombing formations and new 'picchiattelli' dive bombing formations to achieve evident results," said the high command.

Man Awaiting Sentence Saves 7-Year-Old Boy From Lake at Madison

Madison.—(P)—Fritz Winterbotham, 29, who is awaiting sentence in superior court for an alleged "check kiting" conspiracy, rescued 7-year-old William Clausen from Lake Monona yesterday.

The boy fell out of a boat 100 feet from shore while Winterbotham, a filling station operator, was working on another boat on the shore line. Winterbotham dove into the lake fully clad and with the help of two passersby brought the boy to safety.

House Group Wants U. S. to Run Plants on Rental Basis

Plan Offered as Substitute to Senate Proposal; Bill's Passage Due This Week

Washington.—(P)—Members of the house military committee said today they had approved an amendment to the military conscription bill to permit the government to take over, on a rental basis, industrial plants for production of defense materials.

Chairman May said the amendment was accepted by a vote of 12 to 11. It is a substitute for a senate provision which would authorize the government to take over and operate such plants.

The house amendment differs from a similar 1916 law in that it does not require a finding that war is existing or imminent for it to be put into effect.

Sponsored by Representative Smith (D-Conn.), the house committee's modification would authorize the government to place an order for defense supplies which a company would be required to fill.

If the concern refused the contract, the government would proceed to operate the plant, produce the supplies and pay "fair and just" compensation or rental.

Passage Expected
The house opened debate today on the precedent-breaking question of peacetime conscription, with both friend and foe of the legislation in virtual agreement on what the decision would be on the final roll call.

A two-to-one vote victory was the forecast of Representative May (D-Ky.), chairman of the house military committee, which prepared the modified version of the Burke-Wadsworth bill on which the house will act.

"I'm afraid we're licked," acknowledged Representative Short (R-Mo.), one of the chiefs of the forces opposed to a peacetime draft of the nation's manhood.

In the oratorical battle anticipated before the decisive vote is reached Friday or Saturday, the arguments for and against conscription were expected to duplicate the general tenor of those aired in the senate before it approved the Burke-Wadsworth measure after three intensive weeks of debate.

The major clashes were looked for on those sections of the modified bill.

206 Motorists Lost Licenses in August

Madison.—(P)—George W. Rickman, state motor vehicle commissioner, reported today that the drivers' licenses of 206 state motorists had been withdrawn during August.

Rickman said 87 licenses were revoked and 119 suspended as compared with 103 revoked and 146 suspended during August, 1939.

Since January 508 licenses have been revoked and 878 others suspended, largely because of drunken or reckless driving, he said.

CHILDREN RESCUED FROM SHIP—Geoffrey Shakespeare, British secretary for overseas trade and chairman of the British overseas reception committee, is shown at a northern British port holding two of the 320 children rescued from a Canadian-bound refugee ship which was torpedoed. ## Roosevelt Tells Congress Of Agreement on Leases

Promise Never To Yield Fleet

British Navy to Fight Elsewhere if Waters At Home are Untenable

Washington.—(P)—President Roosevelt notified congress today of an agreement between the United States and Great Britain under which this country will lease naval and air bases in British possessions in the north and south Atlantic and transfer 50 over-age destroyers to Great Britain.

The United States will acquire naval and air bases in Newfoundland and in the islands of Bermuda, the Bahamas, Jamaica, St. Lucia, Trinidad, and Antigua, and in British Guiana.

The right to bases in Newfoundland and Bermuda are gifts—generously given and gladly received," the president said in a special message.

"The other bases mentioned have been acquired in exchange for 50 of our over-age destroyers."

The president enclosed an opinion by Attorney General Jackson dated Aug. 27, 1940, "regarding my authority to consummate this arrangement."

Subsequent to the White House disclosures, the navy department announced that the first eight of the fifty destroyers released to Britain are at Boston and should be ready for delivery by next Friday. They will be sent to Canadian ports with their present crews, it was said. There they will be taken over by British seamen.

The others will be ready "when requested," a navy announcement said, and they will be "in an operating condition."

The senate was not in session today, so the message went only to the house, meeting to debate the senate-approved conscription bill.

Mr. Roosevelt said that the arrangement with Britain was effected in an exchange of notes between Lord Lothian, the British ambassador, and Secretary of State Hull on Sept. 2.

It "is not inconsistent in any sense with our status of peace," he declared.

"Still less is it a threat against any nation," he continued. "It is an epochal and far-reaching act of preparation for continental defense in the face of grave danger."

Cites Great Value
"Preparation for defense is an inalienable prerogative of a sovereign state. Under present circumstances this exercise of sovereignty is essential to the maintenance of our peace and safety. This is the most important action in the reinforcement of our national defense that has been taken since the Louisiana purchase. Then as now, considerations of safety from overseas attack were fundamental."

The value to the western hemisphere of these outposts of security "is beyond calculation," the chief executive stated.

"Their need has long been recognized by our country," he said, "and especially by those primarily charged with the duty of charting and organizing our own naval and military defense."

"They are essential to the protection of the Panama canal, Central America, the northern portion of South America, the Antilles, Canada, Mexico, and our own eastern and Gulf seaboard. Their consequent importance in hemisphere defense is obvious. For these reasons I have taken advantage of the present opportunity to acquire them."

Weekend Toll Is Heavy in Nation; County Is Lucky

Accidents Claim 514 Lives; 23 Persons Killed in Wisconsin

The Labor day weekend in Outagamie county passed with only minor traffic accidents, but 23 persons met violent death in the state in Friday-through-Monday accidents and the nation counted 514 violent deaths—147 more than were tabulated for the same period a year ago, according to the Associated Press.

A 5-year-old Cato boy was killed in an accident involving a car driven by Edward Deml, 47, 230 E. Wisconsin avenue, near Reedsville last night.

Motor vehicle deaths in the nation numbered 514, greater by 97 than those of last Labor day weekend. Deaths from other causes totaled 189, including the 25 who died Saturday in the crash of an airliner in Virginia.

The state's crowded highways took a toll of 15 lives. Another was killed in a crash during the automobile races at the Jefferson County Fair grounds. Two persons were drowned in falls from boats, but autumn-like weather kept swimming at a minimum.

Suffers Bruises
James Schreiter, 19, 229 N. Richmond street, suffered bruises when the car he was driving went off a highway near Shiocton yesterday. He was treated at St. Elizabeth hospital.

Evan LeRoy Cooper, Shawano, escaped injury when his car went off Highway 45 on a hill in the town of Greenville, about 110 Monday afternoon.

The Cato boy, Edward Virgil Remiker, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Remiker, was killed by the Deml car as he crossed Highway 10 near Reedsville at 7:10 last night.

Deml was driving south at the time and the boy, who was watching a threshing machine across the road, failed to see the car, according to Manitowish county authorities. No inquest was scheduled.

Other victims in the state included: Larry Drews, 19, of Madison township, Dane county.

William Denhardt, 14, of Milwaukee.

Mrs. Lester B. Peachy, 48, of Burnett.

Guy Hopkins, 68, Rockton, Ill.

Frank Wier, 25, Chicago.

Mrs. Henry Leonard, 59, Chicago.

John Joseph Snyder, 19, Janesville, Wis.

Arthur M. Easton, 54, Hanover, Wis.

Raymond A. Reed, 17, Chicago.

Pedestrian Killed
Drews was killed by a car Monday night as he walked along the Madison road, three miles west of Madison township.

The Denhardt youth was killed while bicycling with two companions on the Blue Mound road, one mile west of the Milwaukee county line. The driver of the car which struck the youth told police that Denhardt turned his bicycle in front of his automobile.

Mrs. Peachy and Hopkins were injured fatally when the automobile in which they were riding collided with another car on a hill five miles north of Watertown.

Wier, the race driver, was killed when his racer smashed into another car just beyond the grandstand at the Jefferson County Fair grounds.

Police said the crash occurred after the black and white flag had signaled the end of the race, but that Wier apparently had not seen the signal. The driver of the other racer was uninjured.

Mrs. Leonard lost her life in a head-on automobile collision near Chippewa Falls early Monday. Three others were hurt in the accident.

Snyder died in a Janesville hospital Monday of injuries suffered the day previous when run over by a truck while at work gathering corn in a field.

Easton, farmer living near Hanover, was killed Sunday when his shotgun discharged accidentally while he was shooting rats.

Reed was killed and his companion, Pat Sobbe, 18, Chicago, injured critically when they were struck by an automobile near Twin Lakes in Kenosha county Sunday.

Says Government Must March With Industry

Marshfield.—(P)—Fred H. Clausen said in a campaign address today that "we talk about agriculture, labor and business having to march together, but we often neglect to mention the other member of the set of fours which also should be there, and in step, and that is government."

"During the past seven and one-half years government has been out of step with those activities which are essential to real progress," Clausen said in a speech in behalf of his candidacy for the Republican nomination for United States senator.

Jointly sponsored by the Democratic state committee and an agricultural group headed by J. H. Lloyd, state director of agriculture, the Wallace appearances will include several outdoor speaking engagements at county fairs and district political gatherings.

Following a luncheon meeting at noon with Central Illinois fair leaders, the former secretary of agriculture was to speak at 2 p. m. (CST) at Funk's grove near here.

His audience here, as elsewhere on the tour, was expected to be largely composed of farmers.

Accompanying Wallace
Congressman Marvin Jones of Texas, chairman of the house committee on agriculture; Director Lloyd and C. V. Gregory, editor of a farm journal, were to accompany Wallace. Tonight he was scheduled to speak in DeKalb.

Other cities in which Wallace is scheduled to speak during the week are Freeport and Galesburg tomorrow; Springfield, Jacksonville and Bellevue on Thursday; Litchfield, Du Quoin and Effingham on Friday; and Champaign and Kankakee Saturday.

Democratic state headquarters in Springfield said it was likely that Harry B. Hershey, party nominee for governor, United States Senator James M. Slattery and several other Democratic state candidates would attend some of the meetings.

Managers of the Wallace tour said he was planning similar trips through Iowa, Nebraska, Minnesota and probably Indiana and Wisconsin but that arrangements were indefinite.

Says Administration Diverts Attention With 'Scare Stories'
Milwaukee.—(P)—Dr. Glenn Frank, candidate for the Republican United States senatorial nomination yesterday accused the national administration of circulating "scare stories" in a "desperate attempt to divert attention from its tragic failure to deal effectively with our domestic difficulties."

"I am quite as concerned as Mr. Roosevelt can possibly be that we build a bomb-proof shelter for democracy against Hitlerism," Frank said in a radio address. "But I don't want to see us Hitlerize our democracy in the very process of getting ready to defend it against Hitlerism."

The former University of Wisconsin president also asserted that "the present administration's sin has been that it dilly-dallied and played politics so long when it should have been perfecting its defense forces, swiftly and soberly, without resorting to scare stories of menaces that cannot possibly strike at us as its panicky leadership tries to make us believe."

Frank Popp, 63, Dies After 2-Week Illness
Chilton.—Frank J. Popp, 63, died at St. Agnes hospital in Fond du Lac Friday. He had been ill for two weeks and was taken to the hospital August 21.

He was born December 3, 1878, on a farm in the town of Brother-ton where he spent his entire life. He was a member of the Holy Name society of Holy Trinity church at Jericho.

He is survived by his wife and four children, Herbert of Jericho, Joseph of Kloten, Norbert of Detroit and Mrs. Clem Ecker of Stockbridge; and five grandchildren. He leaves two sisters, Mrs. John See, Kloten, Mrs. F. J. Wichmann, High Cliff; one brother, John Popp, St. John. Funeral was held at Holy Trinity church at Jericho with the Rev. F. Hermann in charge. Burial was in the parish cemetery.

Scouters at Valley Camp Over Weekend
Kimberly and Little Chute troop committeemen and their wives spent the Labor day weekend at Gardner Dam scout camp.

Sept. 14 a group from Appleton Troop 11 will go, and Sept. 21 a group from Troop 9 of Menasha.

Building Permits
A permit to build a dormer, 11 by 5 feet in size, was given to Roy Austin, 1203 N. Lawe street, today by the city building inspector. Cost is estimated at $50.

C. M. Zschachner, 526 W. Fifth street, received permission to build an addition to his house, 10 by 4 feet in size at a cost of about $25.

Wallace Sets Out on 5-Day Illinois Tour
Democratic Nominee For Vice President Begins Active Drive

Bloomington, Ill.—(P)—Starting his active campaign as the Democratic vice presidential nominee, Henry A. Wallace opened a mid-western speaking tour today with the first of a dozen addresses he will deliver in downstate Illinois during the next five days.

The series of Illinois meetings will take the candidate on a 1,100 mile swing by automobile through the state's farming districts. Wallace said the tour would be extended to include several other farm belt states but that itineraries were incomplete.

Jointly sponsored by the Democratic state committee and an agricultural group headed by J. H. Lloyd, state director of agriculture, the Wallace appearances will include several outdoor speaking engagements at county fairs and district political gatherings.

Following a luncheon meeting at noon with Central Illinois fair leaders, the former secretary of agriculture was to speak at 2 p. m. (CST) at Funk's grove near here.

Managers of the Wallace tour said he was planning similar trips through Iowa, Nebraska, Minnesota and probably Indiana and Wisconsin but that arrangements were indefinite.

MAMMOTH CROWD HEARS ROOSEVELT DEDICATE TVA SYSTEM—President Roosevelt told a huge assemblage near Chattanooga, Tenn., that Americans "are facing a time of peril" unmatched in world history. Accordingly, he dedicated the gigantic Chickamauga dam and a system of man-made lakes in the Tennessee Valley to "the total defense of the United States of America." The President is shown here as he sat in his automobile and delivered the speech. On either side and in rear are the superstructure and backwater of Chickamauga dam.

SUCCUMBS—David Franklin Houston, 74, insurance executive and secretary of agriculture in President Wilson's cabinet, died in New York yesterday of heart disease.

Progressives Pick Chairman For Campaign

Samuel Sigman Head Of Drive Committee In Outagamie County

Appointment of Samuel Sigman as campaign chairman and Mary C. Schneider, sister of the last Congressman George J. Schneider, as secretary of the campaign committee was announced today by A. M. Miller, Outagamie county chairman of the Progressive party.

An intensive campaign is expected to be conducted in behalf of the Progressive state and legislative candidates supported by the organization.

Mr. Sigman announced the first speaking date in the county will be Friday, at the Little Chute Village hall. Senator Michael F. Kresky, Progressive candidate for congress, will head the list of speakers. Others who will talk will be Mr. Miller, Progressive candidate for lieutenant governor; Harry Jack, Progressive candidate for state senator; and John Sieber, Progressive candidate for assemblyman from the Second district which includes Little Chute.

Sigman spoke Sunday night at the Trades and Labor council Labor day celebration at Waupun. He was the principal speaker on the 3-day program.

Advisory Committees Will Meet Tomorrow
Two advisory committees are slated to meet tomorrow at Appleton Vocational school to review plans for fall classes, according to Herb Heilig, director.

The barber's advisory committee will meet at 7:30. On this group are Perry Brown, Leonard Schwartz, John Deltgen and Ben Beschta.

On the plumbing committees, which meets at 4:30 in the afternoon, are Thomas Long, Al Bauer, Walter Van Ryzin, Henry Bartz, Carl Drexler and Everett Westphal.

War Situation Today

Germans, Repulsed in First Air Raid, Bound Back With Another

British air fighters signalled their little chance of attempting a land invasion before spring.

German raiders gave London its 37th air-raid alarm, a 72-minute attack which came in the forenoon as King George VI held court in Buckingham palace.

Hitler's high command reported widespread raids, including air-dromes at Gravesend, Hornchurch and Eastchurch; night attacks on munitions factories at Birmingham, Coventry and Filton, in the great industrial midlands; and bombing assaults on the ports of Liverpool, Swansea, Bristol, Plymouth, Portland, Poole and Portsmouth.

Nazi airmen reported seeing a 6,500-foot column of smoke billowing up from bomb-hit targets in Bristol, and huge fires at Portsmouth, Swansea and Cardiff.

Yesterday's fighting cost the Germans 42 planes against 13 British fighters, the British announced, but the Germans chalked up the score as 86 British planes destroyed and 23 German aircraft missing.

British statements countering Nazi declarations that British air defense cannot last much longer included an air ministry tally of 1,967 German planes brought down over the British isles in the first year of the war. The Germans on the other hand claimed 1,375 British planes had been destroyed in 24 days ended Aug. 31.

Labor Fought for Its Gains, Gettelman Says
Hales Corners.—(P)—State Senator Bernard Gettelman, addressing the Hales Corners fair attendance Sunday, said that improvements of labor's condition in the last 30 years "are here because labor demanded them, fought for them and in some instances forced employers to grant them."

"I am proud that I had a part in enactment of laws in the interests of labor," Gettelman declared.

Balkans No Place for Both Hitler and Stalin

BY DEWITT MACKENZIE

The hot-spot of the European war today—apart from Hitler's intensified bombing of England in an effort to make a quick kill before the bad weather overtakes him—is

Rumania, where the Nazi chief bids fair to achieve a notable gain as the result of the "settlement" of the Hungarian-Rumanian territorial dispute.

Announcement that Germany intends to send troops of occupation to safeguard Rumania's frontiers sheds a lot of light on the situation growing out of the axis award of about half of Rumanian Transylvania to Hungary.

This means that Herr Hitler is establishing what nazism calculates to be a protectorate over the strategically-important domains of King Carol.

With the military occupation of Rumania Hitler will have driven a great wedge clear through from Germany to the Black Sea, since Hungary must be considered as working along with the Reich. This will at once increase Germany's politico-economic domination of the Balkans and tend to stymie Russia's efforts to extend her own influence over the peninsula.

The tense situation in the Balkans was further complicated by the threat of Rumanians in Transylvania to resist by force transfer of this territory to Hungary. Already there have been considerable disorders, but the only result of this thus far has been a semi-official Nazi threat to occupy all Rumania unless the agitation is stopped.

Complete occupation would, of course, serve Germany's purpose even better than the original proposal of sending troops to protect the borders.

Russia Silent
Moscow's view of this German mission naturally is of vast importance, but the Bolsheviks have been watching the move through their army binoculars without doing any talking. Whether the Soviet has given tacit acquiescence or not, it has made no move as yet to counter Hitler's opportunistic coup. It wouldn't surprise most observers, however, to see Russia stick her thumb into the pie and pull out a plum to match the Nazis.

Be that as it may, in my mind we have one fundamental fact which we can use as a yardstick in measuring Russo-German relations. This is that their interests clash heavily, and especially in the Balkans. The fact that they haven't come to blows cannot alter this situation. In my view there will be a pay-off sooner or later.

When Stalin the latter part of June annexed northern Bukovina and Bessarabia, he was believed widely to be on his way to Constantinople and the strategic Dardanelles. Control of this vital part of the Balkans has been a dream of Moscow for generations.

Stalin's Position Bettered
Stalin acquired a fine military position when he took over Bessarabia. This showed his frontiers forward to the line of the great river Pruth, and up against the lower Danube, where it empties into the Black sea. One purpose of this move was to secure control of the navigable Danube, which happens to be Herr Hitler's only feasible route to the Black sea.

Now Stalin's shrewd move has been largely countered. When Hitler has thrown his mechanized forces up against the Pruth and lower Danube, he will be able to salute the Muscovite and say, "check." That Stalin will quite as politely exact a price for this may be reasonably anticipated.

The old fact is that neither Hitler nor Stalin wants war with the other at this time.

Unless there is some hitch in the Hitler will have strengthened his Rumanian program as laid down position in the battle of Britain greatly. He not only will have gained military dominance in the northern Balkans but will have control of the Danubian basin which is one of the greatest grain growing districts in the world. He is going to need food supplies from there desperately if the war goes on through the winter.

Fears Dictatorship If Roosevelt Wins
Oconomowoc.—(P)—Alvin E. O'Konsky, candidate for the Republican nomination for attorney general, told Labor day picnic here yesterday the election of President Roosevelt to a third term was the first step in "plot" to establish dictatorship in this country.

He said this would be followed by conscription of an army of 4,000,000 men, conscription of factories and business and finally American participation in the European war as the president would "have an excuse to ask for more power and use the powers of a dictator already given him."

"To save us from dictatorship," O'Konsky said.

Gmeiner to Report On DAV Convention
Robert Gmeiner, commander of the William F. Speel chapter, Disabled American Veterans of the World war, will report at a meeting of the chapter at 8 o'clock tonight at the courthouse on the national D.A.V. convention to which he will be the Appleton delegate. Final plans will be made for a public picnic which the D.A.V. will sponsor Sunday, Sept. 15 at Pierce park.

Milk Products To be Promoted

Sales Campaign for Milk, Butter, Cheese Is Planned in County

The Cheesemakers Federation of Outagamie county with the county agent's office, will sponsor a county-wide 3-day dairy sales promotional program in October, according to J. F. Magnus, county agent.

A meeting of men from all parts of the county will be held at 8 o'clock Wednesday evening in the circuit court rooms at the county courthouse to plan the details of the sales campaign.

Magnus said under the program, the sale of cheese, milk, butter and other milk products will be promoted. The program will be a follow-up of the county's quality milk program which has produced excellent results, Magnus said.

Will Inspect Oneida Street Bridge for Cost, State Writes

Apparently the city is not going to get a free inspection of the Oneida street bridge from the state highway commission.

The commission, in a letter to the city clerk, said it "would be glad to make an examination and report at cost."

Previously the council, after the street and bridge committee recommended the weight limit be reduced to 5 tons and the speed limit set at 10 miles an hour, had been informed by the city attorney that the limit could not be made lower than 25 miles an hour unless the state highway commission inspected the bridge and gave its permission. The city clerk was instructed to ask for this inspection.

At this council session the street and bridge committee chairman, Alderman Franzke, said an engineer had reported "unfavorably" on the bridge's condition, and that the committee's recommendations were the best that could be made at present.

Who's Who in County Politics

(Editor's note—The following is one of a series of articles on the men and women who are directing political activity in Outagamie county. Some of them hold no public office, nor do they seek office, while others are office holders and are candidates this year. These articles are confined to the men and women who have been political leaders first, and candidates and office holders secondly. Their personal reasons for being in politics are given in the articles.)

Dr. C. L. Kolb, 523 S. Mueller street, chairman of the Republican party of Outagamie county, would like to see younger men take over government jobs in the nation, preferably career men who have studied government and political economics before they run for office.

Dr. Kolb, a dentist, became actively interested in the Republican party in 1915 while he was still at Marquette university studying for his profession. He served in the Milwaukee county club before he joined the army.

He came to Appleton in 1924, started in as a party worker and now is serving as county chairman. He also is vice chairman of the state organization. Dr. Kolb served the party as chairman of precinct committees and five times as a delegate to the state convention. He attended the national convention at Chicago in 1918.

He never held a public office and never wants to, and says that most of the men now serving on the state executive committee wouldn't run for office or take a political job if it was given to them.

Dr. Kolb firmly believes in the 2-party system and one of the reasons he stays in politics is to help in the preservation of the system. Party politics help to make clear in the minds of the people that government can be clean and that the party system is essential to democracy he said.

"More people, and better types of people are becoming interested in politics," Dr. Kolb stated. "They believe in the 2-party system and believe it is the right one because one party checks the other. One party can take advantage of the other's mistakes to keep government on the right path."

"I believe that the schools have been negligent in not offering more complete courses in government and political economics," he continued. "If they could get that kind of education, more young men would become interested in government as a career and prepare themselves for it. We're sending men to do jobs for which they are not qualified. We have to train them after they get the jobs."

Dr. Kolb predicted that within 25 years, men from 25 to 40 years of age will be running the country.

"This idea that you have to have a gray beard to administer government is wrong," he said. "Old men are set in their views and they're hard to change. Younger men have flexible minds and can accept new ideas."

British Drive Off Mass Raid Of Nazi Planes

Scene of the main battle, apparently having jumped from disabled planes.

Claim Heavy Damage

Berlin.—(P)—Clouds of smoke and flames were reported shooting more than a mile high over four of England's naval bases and harbors today by German airmen who returned from night attacks marking the start of a second year of war with Britain.

Smoke was shooting 6,500 feet into the air over Bristol, southeast England port, the fliers said. They mentioned Swansea and Cardiff both in Wales, and the great south England naval base of Portsmouth as places where other fires as big had been started by their bombs.

In addition, the high command said, four other of Britain's most important harbors and naval bases—Liverpool, Plymouth, Portland and Poole—were heavily attacked, with the aim of destroying warehouses and piers.

The high command said hangars and barracks at a string of airports at Hornchurch, Gravesend, Eastchurch and Detling, all in southeast England on the road which the air force is attempting to blast to London, were partly destroyed by fire in yesterday's day raids.

Armament plants and airports in central England also were attacked.

In almost continuous air fights, the high command said, 93 British planes were destroyed, while 23 German planes were missing.

The air war was described as continuing with intensity today. The German communiqué mentioned only one farm as damaged from England's raids, but said bombs were dropped at several places. Informal sources said three British planes were shot down in these raids.

The Nazi press, reviewing the achievements of the last 12 months, found the situation thoroughly satisfactory from the German point of view.

Newspapers said that despite the best efforts of the British naval blockade they found no cause to grumble over the food situation in Germany and declared adequate supplies of oil were available to keep the Nazi air force aloft until Britain has been smashed.

Informal sources claimed English resistance in the air could not survive two more weeks of battering.

Members Committee For Y.M.C.A. Campaign To Hold First Session

The membership committee for the Y. M. C. A. campaign will discuss plans at 7 o'clock tonight at the "Y," according to Homer Gebhardt, general secretary.

H. H. Helble and George E. Johnson are co-chairmen of the membership committee for the annual campaign. J. R. Whitman heads the national firm solicitation committee and T. E. Orison the advance gift committee.

Johnson was chairman of the membership committee in 1937 and 1938, while Helble was a co-chairman in 1936. Whitman and Orison have headed their groups since 1935.

to the worker as compensation laws, old age pensions and unemployment insurance. Unions also brought about reduction of working hours and better working conditions, Olsen brought out.

Economic problems must be faced squarely if they are to be solved, Olsen continued. He rapped the national administration as putting such problems as unemployment in the hands of those who were "socialists first and economists second," and suggested setting up an advisory council of men "from all walks of life," to solve such problems.

Monday afternoon Raymond Richards, vice president of International Brotherhood of Pulp, Sulphite and Paperworkers, told the gathering all Fox River valley paperworkers were now organized, whereas before 1933 only one mill was organized.

"By next Labor day I hope to report a 100 per cent organization of the paper industry in Wisconsin," Richards said.

He discussed attempts to organize the paper industry in the south, where he said such attempts met with strong opposition, but that some progress had been made.

"By keeping our feet on the ground, avoiding unreasonable demands and keeping public opinion with us, labor will continue to go forward."

Candidate Talks

Michael F. Kresky, candidate for congress in the Eighth district, said the national defense program was not in conflict with the labor program.

"In the accomplishment of a strong national defense wage earners who are well aware of the great economic and social gains they have made in the past . . . can be assured that their contributions to this program will not be at the cost of a lowered standard of living or social advantages."

After reviewing labor benefits in the form of federal legislation the last seven years, Kresky prophesied future gains in the form of extended benefits under workmen's compensation, unemployment compensation and the social security law.

Samuel Sigman, legal adviser of the Trades and Labor council, warned that lack of unity and lack of preparedness had brought hitherto free and independent peoples into subjection.

"Some think we here are secure beyond any danger to our democracy and freedom . . . there was a time when I shared the view that military preparedness was a waste of money and effort . . . it is now an absolute necessity."

"Labor not only joins wholeheartedly behind every effort to build our national defense but is also determined that the social gains made by it shall not be swept away by false and reactionary powers seeking to gain control of government."

Unity Is Needed

"What we need is more unity, a greater organized labor movement, a more intelligent understanding of our problems and a will on the part of our leaders in government and industry to apply honest effort to their solution."

Walter Melchior, Eighth district congressional candidate, said he would "never give aid to any administration to wage another commercial war and at this time I believe that this present war in Europe is a commercial war."

"At this time most 'would be' statesmen assure the people regarding patriotism. I assure you I know what war is. The war-mongering politicians do not and they will vote to send our sons to the front again."

"I cannot ever permit any move act of preparation for continental defense in the face of grave danger. "Preparation for defense is an inalienable prerogative of a sovereign state. Under present circumstances this exercise of sovereign right is essential to the maintenance of our peace and safety. This is the most important action in the reinforcement of our national defense that has been taken since the Louisiana purchase. Then, as now, considerations of safety from overseas attack were fundamental."

"The value to the western hemisphere of these outposts of security is beyond calculation. Their need has long been recognized by our country, and especially by those primarily charged with the duty of charting and organizing our own naval and military defense. They are essential to the protection of the Panama canal, Central America, the northern portion of South America, the Antilles, Canada, Mexico, and our own eastern and gulf seaboard. Their consequent importance in hemisphere defense is obvious. For these reasons I have taken advantage of the present opportunity to acquire them."

More than 100 of the United States' 123 over-age destroyers have been recommissioned and a naval authority said on Aug. 20 that at least 50 could be made ready to leave for Great Britain within a week. They would need only to take on supplies and ammunition. Most of them are at Philadelphia.

90-Year Leases

All the destroyers have four-inch guns and 21-inch torpedo tubes, the same size as those the British use. They are all above the 10-year over-age limit, having been completed by 1922.

Lord Lothian in his note said all the bases and facilities in the agreement would be leased for 99 years, free from all rent and charges other than such compensation to be agreed on mutually to be paid by the United States "to compensate the owners of private property for loss by expropriation or damage."

Lothian said the leases would apply to the eastern side of the Bahamas, the southern coast of Jamaica, the western coast of St. Lucia, the west coast of Trinidad in the gulf of Paria, in the island of Antigua and in British Guiana within 50 miles of Georgetown "in exchange for naval and military equipment and material which the United States government will to get us into war without total resistance upon my part."

Charles Debenack, president of building trades council, presided at Sunday's program, with George Behling, truck drivers' organizer, in charge Monday. Debenack and Louis Weber, Trades and Labor council president, spoke briefly of union affairs.

Mayor John Goodland, Jr., welcomed Monday's listeners. Other city officials on the stage were Edward E. Sager, city clerk; Lloyd Schindler, city engineer; Alderman Joseph Franke, chairman of the street and bridge committee, and George T. Prim, chief of police.

Willkie Leading Roosevelt, 64-36, in Maine, Poll Shows

BY DR. GEORGE GALLUP
Director, American Institute of Public Opinion
Copyright, 1940

Princeton, N. J.—Republican candidates are leading in Maine today, as political observers in all parts of the United States await the results of the nation's first official election test between the GOP and the Democrats, September 9.

That fact is indicated in a state-wide survey by the American Institute of Public Opinion.

Wendell L. Willkie, the Republican presidential candidate, is leading President Roosevelt in Maine by a vote of 64 to 36, the Institute survey shows—or substantially more than Governor Landon's majority in Maine in the November elections of 1936.

Comparison of major-party presidential sentiment in Maine today with the presidential vote four years ago reveals a seven-point drop in Roosevelt's strength.

5% Favoring G. P. Candidate

November, 1936 57% 43% Today's survey 64 36

Approximately one voter in every eight (12%) said he was undecided about his presidential choice at this time.

Other Republican Candidates Ahead

Like the rest of the 48 states, Maine will cast its presidential ballots November 5. What makes Maine particularly interesting to political observers is the fact that its general elections for congressmen, a United States senator and a governor will occur nearly two months earlier.

Preliminary returns from a special Institute survey on the Maine senatorial and gubernatorial races indicate that the Republican candidates for these offices are also well out in front of their Democratic opponents at the present time.

Summer Sewall, GOP candidate for the governorship, is leading Fulton Redman by more than 2 to 1 in these first returns, while Ralph O. Brewster, the Republican candidate for the U. S. senate, is leading the popular Maine Democrats, Louis J. Brann, by not quite 2 to 1, the survey shows.

Surveys on both races show: Governorship Sewall (Rep.) . . . . . 72% Redman (Dem.) . . . . . 28% Senatorship Brewster (Rep.) . . . . . 66% Brann (Dem.) . . . . . 34%

A further report on Maine sentiment will be published on the eve transfer to his majesty's government."

Secretary Hull, replying under the same date, declared: "In consideration of the declarations above quoted, the government of the United States will immediately transfer to his majesty's government 50 United States navy destroyers, generally referred to as the twelve-hundred-ton type."

The Candidates for Vice President

After making a nuisance of himself by interfering with a perfectly good football broadcast Mr. Wallace dramatically exclaimed that the whole campaign this fall is whether we will support Hitler or not. He lines everyone up who is against the third term as for appeasement.

It is a perfectly clever piece of strategy and permissible within the limits of American customs. But how many will it really mislead? Mr. Roosevelt is certainly no Hitler but he is going Hitler's way farther than any American president ever went before. These Third Termers, these talkers about the "indispensable man" are actually repeating Hitler arguments in the German elections of 1933 except in one particular. Our speech is in English whereas the speech in the Reich was German.

So Hitler is going to be the bogeyman for the election! He is going to be the gigantic scarecrow to cover the American masses into voluntarily surrendering the sweetest, the most precious, the purest and most magnificent tradition any nation since the birth of time has ever known. And the Iowa agriculturalist and dealer in seeds is the crusader with a flaming torch who will light the way to safety. Oh ye gods and little fishes!

It is to be hoped that the reader of Mr. Wallace's address will turn and read Mr. McNary's for the one was a screen of fear and confusion while the other had earmarks of logic and reasoning. Mr. McNary puts the issue in this clear manner:

"We may forgive the New Deal's incompetence in dealing with economic forces; its inability—or unwillingness—to further the employment of idle capital and idle hands. We might overlook the confusion in theory and practice that have curbed initiative, stalled the engines of production and multiplied debt. We are still a rich country. What we cannot forgive is that the New Deal, finding itself unable to restore national vitality, fashioned its plan upon the thesis that America is finished, that our economy is inevitably contracting; that opportunity has been extinguished and that, hereafter, we must look increasingly to the government for jobs, for security and for the oversight of our private lives.

"That concept, old as human pessimism, germinates now from a Europe which has been transformed—by poverty, political immaturity and war—into a dismal despotism. That concept is statism; the doctrine of the ascendancy of the state over the individual. I deny its validity in terms of a youthful, vital America. I charge, moreover, that the diffusion of that concept has impaired the national spirit; and, if persisted in, might well rob us in time of the will to be free."

"The Little American of 1940 maintains that our race is run. The throb he hears is not the hum of America's dynamo, but the hardening of America's arteries. It is his despondent outlook that deflates the hopes of youth; insists that our industrial plant is overbuilt and that we must look forward only to a slippared senility."

We suppose that if the Third Term gets by with Hitler as the issue, the fourth term in 1944 can be based upon Stalin and the fifth term on the Japanese Mikado. Just what will be the issue for the sixth term which will be embodied in the candidacy of Prince Jimmy is too far in the future for even the noble planners to work out at this time.

"The Game Is the Thing"

The Packer-All Star game this year vaulted this great charity event at Soldiers' Field into the premier position among great American spectacles.

We all should doff our hats to the Chicago Tribune which originated the game and Arch Ward who has organized it with a care for detail, color and sentiment that would do honor to a General Motors executive.

If should be the ambition of every person to some day include himself among the tens of thousands who look down upon this game and the wondrous pageantry of lights, song and music between halves. It is a sight far beyond the power of words or figures to describe.

Our American Nobility: The R.O.T.M.C.

We have no protest to make merely because the Debt-ocratic party has a secret inner council, a club within a club, or an order within an order. These things are not unusual although the inner council is not always baptized as are the Trench Rats with the Disabled American Veterans.

But we do most solemnly protest, however, to the election of Lawrence W. Robert of Atlanta, Georgia as a member of the Royal Order of Temple Money Changers which is the nucleus of the Debt-ocratic party.

After that delightful citizen, Boss Flynn, a Tammany humanitarian, was elected chairman of the Democratic National Committee, Mr. Robert was made its secretary, and proceeded forthwith to line his pockets with the filthy lucre. In the short intervening space of a few weeks he has nailed down $930,000 in "fees" for blueprinting some cantonnments and other navy contracts, as sweet a rake-off as was ever licked up by a sharp-eyed maltese.

Nonetheless, we protest against Mr. Robert's immediate election to the Royal Order of Temple Money Changers. This is necessarily an exclusive set. It must maintain its aristocratic traditions. It is blue-blooded, high-hatted, Oxford-accented, silk-underclothed and coolheaded. It should keep out the nouveau riche, those miserable upstarts who think they can get into the cream of political society just because they have garnered together a lot of lousy public money.

In the first place no one should be permitted into the Royal Order of Temple Money Changers who has not made at least a million off the people by way of weeping over them. And Mr. Robert is still $70,000 shy of that amount. Moreover admission into the Temple Money Changers should not be hasty or precipitate like someone trying to get into the Elks because of the next big dancing party. Even the black clouds on the horizon in November must not be used as a pretext to lower the bars upon this rule. Neither should there be any toleration of the argument that the dollars made by a profiteer in war preparations smell sweeter than those made through ordinary commercial exertions and therefore entitle the owner to special recognition.

Keep the Royal Order of Temple Money Changers on a high and regal plane along with England's Royal Order of the Garter.

Farewell to Mr. Hopkins

No one hopes for Mr. Hopkins' health more than the Post-Crescent. Its criticism of his advancement in the public service was made in spite of the fact that it realized "his intentions were good."

But Mr. Hopkins was a social worker and a high pressure politician. His predecessor, Daniel Roper, was only a politician. Neither of them had very much idea what the Department of Commerce was all about. Both, somewhat like the President, had lived in the security of being on someone else's payroll. Neither ever had to mortgage his shirt to get enough money to meet the sum total of wages coming to others. It was natural that the President should have a friendly feeling for them and that they should sympathize with the President's aims and his inability to accomplish them. But it is regrettable that in our system of government men so notoriously unfit for a job should be permitted to hold it down year after year, draw a fine salary for so doing, and gum up the works as they were never gummed before.

Mr. Jones will be a success as Secretary of Commerce. He has participated in the management of extensive business concerns and realizes the value of speech even in business, and its worthlessness when employed as a substitute for good organization.

In other days an occasional cabinet member has been found to be a delightful humbug, only a good after-dinner speaker or the writer of a rousing and ripping piece of rhetoric, but it is certain that in the country's history we have never had a cabinet that was dominated by the mediocrity of the Hopkins, Roper, Cummings, Perkins, Woodring type.

On With the Fourth Internationale!

Josephus Daniels, our minister to Mexico, is a very busy man these days. He has a heavier job than has come to his department since he took over diplomatic duties with our favorite Good Neighbor.

For somebody has got to get that little Ageloff girl out of jail so she can hurry back to her New York job where the people support her in a "Welfare" position while she does the kitchen work for the Trotskyites. If Mr. Daniels cannot tickle the Mexican palm with some more American tribute and accomplish his purpose he should get word of the fact back quickly to the American Youth Congress or some other high-powered Red command. Perhaps they can figure out a way for two months' vacation instead of one, at least for the Trotskyites.

And what would either Stalinites or Trotskyites in America do if they didn't have our public payrolls to support them?

The average annual mileage of the American passenger automobile has been estimated at 8,650.

North Dakota had the lowest percentage of accidental deaths of all states in 1939.

The DAILY WASHINGTON MERRY GO ROUND

BY DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

Washington—The behind-the-scenes struggle over taxes on national defense orders, together with the sit-down staged by certain manufacturers until taxes are adjusted to suit them, is one of the most important developments in the Capitol this summer.

It is a mixed story. Some business firms have been 100 per cent patriotic in their attempt to aid national defense. On the other hand, a great many have not. Some have been very much like British and French munitions firms in their procrastination over vital war orders.

The story goes back to November 8, 1939, when John Hanes, then under secretary of the treasury, submitted a confidential memorandum to the president advising that industry would have to be given tax concessions if it was to expand for national defense. Specifically, Hanes pointed out that airplane manufacturers could not be expected to build new plants to speed up production if, after a year or two, the war would be over and they would be left with empty plants on their hands.

So Hanes proposed that the cost of these new plants be amortized in a relatively short time so that industry would not have to pay taxes on them after the war emergency was over.

MORGENTHAU'S IDEA
Roosevelt approved this proposal. But when the Hanes memorandum went back to Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau, it ran into stormy weather. In fact, this memo was one of the things over which Morgenthau and his under secretary quarreled.

Hanes and Morgenthau both are millionaires, both able men. But Hanes, a director of the Glenn Martin Aircraft corporation, looks at taxes more from the businessman's viewpoint, while Morgenthau looks at taxes from the viewpoint of collecting money to run the government.

Therefore, Morgenthau told Roosevelt that he would secure enough factory expansion from the airplane companies, but instead of taking it out of government tax revenue, he would make the French and British pay for it. He pointed out that the allies were placing large airplane orders, and that they could pay American factories a higher price in order to finance plant enlargement and new machine tools.

This seemed a good idea to Roosevelt, and on Nov. 10 he decided to make Morgenthau coordinator for the sale of airplanes to France and Great Britain. Later, on Dec. 6, Under Secretary of State Sumner Welles approved a plan whereby the treasury rather than the state department passed on the shipment of airplanes to the allies.

HITLER GUMS THE WORKS
The Morgenthau idea seemed to work all right during the winter, and the allies laid plans for spending about $7,000,000 on U. S. factory expansion. They didn't do this very willingly, but Louis Johnson, hard-boiled assistant secretary of war, saw to it that they didn't get the latest type of planes unless they paid extra for plant expansion, and Morgenthau backed him up.

Thus the British paid $739,000 to the Curtiss aircraft company for putting in new tools not only for British but for new U. S. planes. One factor upset this program—namely, Adolf Hitler. For by the time he had gone into Norway, Belgium and Holland it became apparent that the United States was going to need airplanes a great deal faster than either the British or the United States could finance plant expansion—in fact, much faster than anyone could build new plants.

COMPANIES FEAR TAXES
Shortly after the invasion of the Low Countries, the British entered into a deal with the war department and they thought—with Ford to manufacture 9,000 Rolls Royce airplane motors, 6,000 for Britain and 3,000 for the United States. The price was increased somewhat in order to take care of the extra expense to be incurred by Ford in equipping this plant, and congress rushed through a special appropriation of $43,500,000 to pay for the order.

Then Ford reneged on the British end of the order and the offer was made to Packard, which immediately raised the question of tax amortization. In other words, Packard said that if they were to enlarge their plant they didn't want to have to pay taxes on it after the emergency was over.

This was agreeable to the treasury and the White House. But about this time the treasury and the congressional committees considering new taxes proposed a limit of 8 per cent profit on all army orders. This is the same profit limitation enforced on navy orders under the Vinson-Trammell act, which was inserted in the 1936 naval bill through an amendment by Congressman Tobey of New Hampshire. However, the army escaped any profit restriction on its contracts except for airplanes on which manufacturers can make a profit of 13 per cent.

THREE SETS OF BOOKS
Thus some manufacturers have done business with the army, where their profits are not limited, and refused to do business with the navy where their profits are kept down to 8 per cent. Furthermore, some airplane manufacturers working for both the army and navy have had to keep three sets of books, one for army orders, one for navy orders, and one for civilian work.

Therefore, the treasury move was to put both the Army and Navy on the same scale with a 9 per cent profit limitation. But industry balked like an aged mule. And even some contracts about to be signed, were hastily withdrawn when the tax proposal was placed before congress.

The war department had just signed contracts with Boeing and North American Aviation to manufacture about 2,000 planes. The contracts were binding, but because the profit limitation was being reduced from 13 per cent to 8 per cent, the war department decided to hold them in, in fairness to the companies, until the entire question of profit limitation and tax amortization could be settled.

This halt in June and July was one reason for the slowness in getting airplane construction under way, despite huge appropriations voted by congress.

A Verse for Today

By Anne Campbell

FRIENDSHIP BURNS BETWEEN US
Friendship burns between us two,
Steadily as gleams the sun.
Clouds may gather; love shines through.
Night may fall, but starbeams run.

Friendship burns between us yet,
Through the bleak dividing miles.
I can never long forget
Your warm tone, your loving smiles.

Friendship burns between us now,
Falling through the darkest night,
Shining on Time's curving bough,
Never failing in its light!

A Bystander In Washington

BY JACK STINNETT

Washington—At the Department of Commerce, they tell you that the No. 1 problem for the economic trouble shooters in the national defense program is rubber.

Funny thing about rubber—it's as American as Indian corn. But now that this hemisphere is facing a crisis, an adequate rubber supply is almost as far away as star dust.

Rubber was unknown until wandering adventurers before the 17th century watched South American Indians playing with a ball that bounced like nothing the white men had ever seen.

Back To Buggy Rides
Yet today, if rubber imports to the western hemisphere were shut off, about 30,000,000 motor vehicles would cease to chug, the defense program would be dead, and the horse-and-buggy days (without rubber tires) would come back.

The United States uses 50,000 tons of rubber a month. Seventy-five per cent of tires. Ninety-eight per cent of the world supply of rubber comes from the Dutch East Indies and British Malaya (each produces around 376,000 tons a year). A paltry 16,000 tons a year come from Brazil, on the continent where rubber first bounced into the economic picture. Africa, Central America, other South American countries and India account for the rest.

Looking over the record and considering "any eventuality," it does look pretty black for rubber if worst comes to worst. But even though you might have a year-and-a-half of discomfort, in event of a rubber shortage, there's no more use worrying about rubber than about tin.

Synthetic On The Way
Synthetic rubbers (there are several) are well on their way. We produced 1,700 tons of usable synthetic rubber last year. If this seems only a drop in the bucket, note that we will produce 10,000 tons this year.

Under government-subsidized plant expansion to the tune of about half a billion dollars (one-twentieth of the present national defense outlay) we probably could be supplying the full demand in eighteen months to two years.

Synthetic rubber is three to five times as costly as the natural product under the present set-up. This will not be true even a year from now. It does not mean that finished synthetic rubber products will cost anything like that much more.

To conserve rubber, we could have driveless days for our 30,000,000 cars and trucks. We could use retreads when the old tires blew out. We could decrease the national speed limit (rubber experts estimate that if everybody held their tires to 30 or 40 miles per hour, it would add months to our rubber supply). We even could reclaim rubber from worn-out rubber bands, bursted balloons and tied blimps. Somewhere along the line we would turn to our approximately eight month's supply of raw and finished rubber.

Might Grow Our Own
It might be tough, but it undoubtedly would work, and perhaps in a year or two, Department of Agriculture experts, working with the natural supply in South and Central America, and California, would have a satisfactory crop of natural rubber in the offing.

The Department of Commerce says that if we have an enemy in the world, he had better not plan on licking us by snapping up all the world's rubber.

He might upset the rubber-tired apple cart for a while, but in the end, we'd be pop-popping along on all four wheels as if nothing had happened.

"SMEARING" INDUSTRY

Editor Post-Crescent—The familiar "smear" tactics against industry for vote getting purposes is again in full swing. Among the users of this political technique is one of Wisconsin's United States senators.

This method of influencing voters is less effective than formerly for two reasons: First, because the attitude of communities toward the industries in their midst has undergone a great change. All over this land the people of communities like Appleton, Menasha and Neenah, and Kimberly have come to know their industries as they never did in the "good old days." Thousands of citizens have visited their factories, machine shops, and mills. They know, at first hand, the working conditions and relationships that exist. There has been a vast increase in appreciation of what a healthy, well run industrial enterprise means to its community.

The second and more important reason why those who charge industry with obstruction tactics are stubbing their toes is the fact that their charge is basically untrue and the people know it. Citing just one of many, Secretary of War Stimson, before the House Committee on Ways and Means, said in part as follows:

"Now, gentlemen, the fault is not with the Army. So far as I am aware, there has been no undue delay in the preparation of Army August 30, 1940.

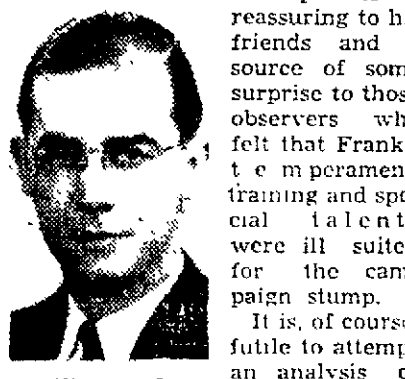

Too Busy to Debate

Under the Capitol Dome

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

Madison—The relative success with which Glenn Frank is meeting in his first excursion into elective politics is reassuring to his friends and a source of some surprise to those observers who felt that Frank's temperament, training and special talents were ill suited for the campaign stump.

Wyngaard

Frank in the senatorial race as against the other half dozen candidates, but it is worth noting that Frank had plunged into the grind in a manner which does not suggest that this new kind of labor is too much of a strain upon his personality.

As a matter of fact, you gather that the polished and distinguished politician enjoys his first contact with the people of Wisconsin since he was booted out of his luxurious public office three years ago, and that the distinct possibility of an electoral vindication is viewed with eager anticipation.

Moreover, Frank has shown that he is adaptable. This reporter remembers the doctor as head of the state university, where his stately prose and somewhat cloudy philosophy were generally lost upon a student body which was largely indifferent toward him as a consequence. Although his speeches today are easily the best in the field in literary quality, and lack the earthy, personal and partisan salves characteristic of Wisconsin campaigning, they are yet clear, intelligent and better listening than the verbal contributions of most others currently clamoring for popular attention in the state arena.

FAVORITE

Among a good many people who have no partisan affiliations, Glenn Frank is the favorite in the Republican line-up, if only for the conviction that he is the man capable of giving LaFollette the best and most conclusive test in the November balloting.

In public stature, in public achievement, he probably ranks at the top of the list of seven Republicans alone, although that is not to say that the other six are not eminently entitled to ask for the job. It is probably true, however, that had Frank made known his intentions a month or two before the filing of nomination papers, he would have discouraged one or two of the others from running.

Hardly anyone will dispute that Frank will finish near the top in the primary, and most of those who venture opinions today will predict that the contest is between Fred Clausen and the former schoolman.

CHOICE

That brings up the fact that some spokesmen of the Republican party who are interested primarily in its specifications and designs for the contracts. The fault has certainly not been with the Defense Advisory Commission. The members of that body have brought to bear on the solution of this problem their great experience, good judgment, and wholehearted efforts. Nor has it been the fault of industry. The representatives of industry have been earnest, they have shown every desire to cooperate with the Army and with the Defense Commission in the difficult negotiations which have been carried on during these 7 weeks. So far as I have been informed, there has been no evidence that at any time there has been any tendency on the part of industry to hold back on the Army in these negotiations.

Personal Health Talks

BY WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.
Noted Physician and Author

THEY LIKE IT EVEN IF IT DOES THEM NO GOOD

Nothing raises a doctor's stocks with a certain class of patients so much as a forthright expression of opinion by the doctor that they have nothing serious the matter, just a slight functional disturbance. Then if the doctor cares to endeavor himself still more in the patient's esteem—for a couple of weeks—he need only inquire indifferently what the patient has been taking for it, and whatever it may be bid him go ahead and use it.

The class of patients to which I refer are the fairly well-heeled and dangerously numerous retainers or dependants of the plutocracy and those who have by chance come into a competence. Just what it is that gives these patients their smug notion I don't know, but it seems that the possession of a little more jack than one's neighbor purports to have qualifies one to exercise pretty shrewd judgment concerning the significance of symptoms and the choice of the proper remedies or treatment therefor.

Difficult patients to handle, these wisecracks. It requires considerable patience and tact, at the first interview, or overwhelming force of personality if you have it, to get the patient off his high horse and on the ground where you can get on with your examination. Mr. or Mrs. Wisecrack always prefers to remain firmly in the saddle and cross-examine the doctor to find out whether he can possibly have had any experience in dealing with the complaints of the upper classes.

Painfully I recall that in my early years in practice a considerable portion of my patients contrived to make me give them a "good tonic" of some kind, no matter what I thought aided them or what other remedy or treatment I thought indicated. This tonic had to be powerfully bitter and disagreeable to take—indeed these qualities were what made it a good tonic. You see, there was an innate idea that medicine had to be bitter in order to be potent.

I say patients contrived to make me give them such concoctions. Not patients, perhaps, but the custom of the time. Always the small voice of conscience whispered that if I really knew what aided the patient I'd prescribe a rational remedy and there'd be no need to string him along with a "tonic." Rarely did I summon the courage to state the problem as plainly as that to the patient. Still more rarely did I keep the patient long after such confession of ineptitude. The public was not yet ready for it.

It is a great satisfaction to a doctor in practice to be able to give a patient or client a clean bill of health. This a doctor can do, of course, only after a painstaking examination. Especially gratifying to advancement are picking Frank over Clausen, not because of any personal animus toward Clausen, but because of the feeling that Frank will be the more potent candidate against LaFollette, and the conviction that if LaFollette isn't beaten this year, he never will be.

However, some of the same folk will suggest that Frank's campaign thus far is inferior to that of Clausen in vigor and organization. Frank thus far is depending on volunteers, political amateurs, and advisors who represent the public opinion of Dane county, which notoriously at variance with that of the state. Upstate voters' memories are short, the practical politicians will tell you, and three years is a long time to be out of public swing in the state. Frank's popularity and strength in Dane county cannot be interpreted as an index of his following upstate, no more than his position in the national Republican party guarantees him the favorite's position in the Wisconsin party.

My Hair Growth

I am 50 Six months ago my physician put me on daily, rational, capsules containing optimal amounts of vitamins A, B, complex, C, D for anemia and poor condition. I am still taking them, and have been astonished at the improvement in my health and particularly in the texture of my skin. Finally I am no longer troubled with falling hair and excessive oiliness—my hair has become glossy and alive-looking and a slight natural wave I had years ago has returned. (Mrs. B. T. F.)

Just a Step Behind the News

By Dave Boone

Summer vacation ended with the usual traffic tie-ups, bent fenders and family break-ups. The more I see of holiday traffic the more I wonder whether we Americans will ever succeed in getting where we are going or getting back from where we've been.

Now that the summer vacation season is over we'll probably get some real summer weather. It was a summer so far below the specifications that we're all entitled to our money back. The last three weeks in fact weren't even fit for winter.

Considering the summer of 1940 what did we get? The draft, the Japanese beetle, two political conventions, a new type of milk bottle, and the calling out of the national guard!

It's good to look around today and see the folks back in their own little flats after all these weeks at the shore or country. They were that expression of happiness and relief that comes with knowing that from now on if life is full of discomforts they ain't going to be charged summer rates for 'em.

I see President Roosevelt made a couple of these speeches he said he wasn't going to have time to make. And he did it so artfully he can even claim he didn't make 'em. Well, now for some oysters, a little attention to business and no more worrying over high tide.

President Has Begun Debate With Willkie

American People Can Answer Roosevelt's 1st Question: Lawrence

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington—President Roosevelt has finally abandoned his attitude of aloofness and has begun to debate with Wendell Willkie through the press. But the first question that Mr. Roosevelt placed before Mr. Willkie is one to which the whole American people will wish to give an answer for it goes to the roots of democracy itself. Mr. Roosevelt's question is this: "How does it happen that Wendell Willkie is a private citizen, has released publicly a private and confidential document which is the property of the president of the United States?"

Mr. Willkie's rejoinder was that since Mr. Roosevelt told his press conference the other day that the report in question was as obsolete as a Civil War document, there ought not to be any reason for keeping Civil War documents confidential any longer. But there is a much more important question which the entire press of the nation will wish to ask: Since when does the White House control the avenue of information in America and decide what shall or shall not be published? One of the tenets of democracy, as enunciated in public speeches by the president, is "freedom of information." It has always been the custom of the American press to regard any government document as the property of the American people and not the private property of the president.

A case in point occurred a couple years ago when Mr. Roosevelt endeavored to sell the private and confidential transcripts of his semi-weekly conferences with the press. A protest went up from editorial writers from one end of the country to the other, in recognition of the criticism, the White House decided to make available to the press for publication copies of extracts in advance of the side of the books containing the press conference material. There was no doubt then that the American people took the position Mr. Roosevelt did not have any right to regard public papers as his private property or the private property of the president.

Were Not Paid But the Stettinius report was the work of the business men who were first appointed by the president to make a survey of America's needs in the event of a war emergency. These men were not paid for their services by the government. They were advisers and any one of them had a right to send a copy of the document to anybody in the press or to a private citizen. These men kept the report confidential, however, in deference to the wishes of the president.

Just how a copy of the report became available to the Republican presidential nominee is not known, but since there were many copies distributed in the government departments when the report was drawn it is not surprising that a copy leaked out. But it would not have been the nominee, would not have

Political General Staffs Have Much to Worry About

BY HUGH S. JOHNSON

Washington, D. C.—The 12th command of both the political armies appear reasonably confident and tranquil but the great general staff of each is in a hell of a dither.

For the Democrats, the loss of Jim Farley on the eve of the battle of the third term was some catastrophe as would be the loss of Hitler to the nazis before a decision in the battle of Britain. Mr. Flynn, make no mistake about it, is a very able man with a better basic brain, I think, than his great predecessor.

But Mr. Flynn's field command has been restricted to the battle of the Bronx and this great American terrain is a very different matter. Even on his own ground, Mr. Flynn will have to wait until the great boss-buster, Tom Dewey gets through with him. It is whispered in the squad rooms that the earlier temporary collapse of his health was due to a few veiled public hints of Mr. Dewey's. In the approaching battle of the century there will be "no holds barred."

Mr. Flynn's Bronx empire was just a little limitation, competition Tammany. I don't know what bones are buried in that realm—but maybe Mr. Dewey does. Mr. Flynn is rather steadily talking about the unlimited money behind the Willkie campaign and his own poverty. Mr. Willkie has, most unadvisedly, I think, underestimated the legitimate and proper cost of a presidential campaign and will live to suffer from his self-imposed limitations, but when Mr. Flynn suggests that Mr. Willkie will fudge, he either doesn't know his man, or he is playing dirty pool.

It is especially unclean because whatever Mr. Flynn's organization may be able to shake down in old time political contributions and regardless of all Hatch acts on the books, this administration is authorized to spend ten billion dollars. If you can't beat four billion, how can you beat ten? It is an almost impossible handicap to Mr. Willkie.

There is another thought. Through eight years, Jim Farley, Mr. Wallace, Mr. Hopkins, social security and other decentralized and supposedly non-political bodies have been building up the greatest decentralized organization of pap and patronage dispensers and consumers that the world has ever seen. That machine has never really been tested. But it is going to be tested now. While seeming to be looking the other way—as he did on the third terms—Mr. Roosevelt is playing the national defense angle for politics with all his boundless skill, cleverness and ambition. Maybe Mr. Flynn's handicaps are not worth considering.

On the Republican side, Campaign Manager Joe Martin is as active as

Today and Tomorrow

BY WALTER LIFFMANN

On the Consciousness of Greatness

In a paper circulated by the American Military Institute, Mr. Alfred Vagts discusses with much learning and insight the failure of the American colleges to educate young men for the world they now live in. Mr. Vagts does not exaggerate when he says that our "problems of psychological unpreparedness" amount "to a state of 'The New Republic,' the charge is admitted by no less a person than Professor George S. Counts, the president of Teachers College, the president of the American Federation of Teachers and a member of the Educational Policies Commission of the National Education Association. This confession is something of an event in the history of American education. For Teachers College has been the mecca of the 'progressive' professors, and Professor Counts has been the author of successive editions of their Koran during the generation between the first World War and the second.

Professor Counts pleads guilty to "irrational optimism," and says that "the great hopes which so recently animated all of us are gone"—the "hope that the Russian revolution would point the way to the economic emancipation of the common man; the hope that the peoples of Europe would reconcile their differences and devote their energies and talents to cultural advance; the hope that the League of Nations would bring a just and lasting peace to mankind." What Professor Counts has not yet got around to doing is to examining the causes why he, who has taught so many teachers, had not taught himself to withstand the ravages of irrational optimism. But Mr. Vagts, who seems to have escaped the effects of irrational optimism, has many illuminating things to say on the present psychological unpreparedness of the American people.

Teaching was pushed in two directions. Mr. Vagts points out, for example, that "the doubts raised about the 'sense' of the first World War pushed the teaching of international relations into two directions—the cynical, which tended to lame the will to action, and the weakly over-optimistic, the latter represented by the proponents of 'peaceful change.' The observation is accurate, who that has read the debates in Congress or talked with recent graduates of the colleges has not been impressed by the degree to which American political thinking oscillates between cynicism and sentimentality, between an absolute agnosticism and an extreme gullibility?

It was said many years ago that a cynic is a disappointed sentimentalist; the cynicism which has been bred in the colleges can be traced directly to the latter-day historians who have indoctrinated our generation with the heresy that unless they reached utopia quickly and easily via Moscow or Geneva, they would be fools to stay at home. That if at first they did not succeed, they would be fools to try again. At bottom these historians were sentimentalists—that is to say, men who wanted to enjoy the good life without earning it—and then they were cynics who derided the good life, saying that the grapes were sour because they were beyond their reach.

Example of the Past Is Needed for Strength "In neither school of thought," says Mr. Vagts, that is to say neither among the cynics who explained away the war as a conspiracy of the bankers and a clash of imperialisms nor among the sentimentalists who deplored that there is a real conflict in the world between good and evil "a newer school of thought" was there to be found that concerning great men and scientific authority which goes with a high concept of politics and history in American colleges has, for the most part, been emptied of all the elements of greatness—that is to say of the conviction that history is not the meaningless tale of a race of mercenary taken the president away from his all-important duties of national crisis during the battle of Britain.

The redoubtable is that the president is having difficulty finding an intense poise and hence his political judgment is not what it used to be. The Roosevelt of 1936 or 1942 would have publicly upbraided Hiram Johnson as not a liberal would not have made a speech about planes "on order," would have told correspondents one day his opposition to the Maloney amendment on the conscription bill and then on another day when asked to comment on the Russell-Owerton amendment would not have invoked his rule of 1939 about "never commenting on pending legislation."

The difference between candor and lack of candor is too transparent where a free press reports everything a president says and does. Friends of the president are wondering whether he is getting or accepting disinterested political advice these days or whether he is still operating a 1-man political mechanism as he did before the third term nomination was made at Chicago. The Democratic manager who presides at the White House is no longer at the president's side and that's because Mr. Farley didn't believe after nearly eight years in the cabinet that out of 130,000,000 persons only one man could run our government.

There is the radio, but he is not reached to click there and in spite of the wailing of several such speech experts as Haines Falconer that he has a natural equipment with which he could promptly be made the greatest radio orator of our time, a combination of difference and rugged individualism prevents that. A great opportunity seems to be trembling in the balance.

idiots but the record of great men and great peoples struggling indomitably to rise out of the sloth and the squalor of their barbaric origins.

So the young men of our generation have been deprived of their birthright which is to be conscious that they are the children of a high destiny, in the line of great men who performed great deeds, members of the noble company throughout the centuries who had faith when men were hopeless, who fortified reason against unreason, vindicated justice against violence, and in the jungle of animal passion cleared the spaces where the air is free and clear and tranquil. No people can be equal to its fate unless it has the consciousness of greatness. The consciousness of greatness can be preserved only by the memory of greatness; his sense of history is the secret magic by which Churchill is leading his people in this the noblest and most glorious moment of the life of Great Britain. Our own historians, who think they have explained the greatness of the American past when they have explained it away, have emptied American history of all significant meaning, of its value as a source of wisdom, of its power to teach by example.

Must Face Realities Of National Existence

The fact is that no nation can live and remain a nation if the people in it cease to remember and no longer respect their own history. For the American nation in particular—because it is still a new nation in the process of being formed out of many older nations—the common consciousness of a great past is indispensable. Without it, with no sense that there is an historic destiny in which Americans participate, with only the feeling that nothing great was ever done here and that American history is no more than the story of men on the make, this nation will never cohere. It will crumble into factions of self-seeking individuals. It will refuse to face the realities of its national existence. It will take refuge in cynicism and it will escape into sentimentality. It will go to sleep and then wake up in a panic; it will be complacent and frightened. It will never find, without the deep conviction that it is continuing a great history, either the unity, which will make it secure or the hard unconquerable spirit which, if it is tested will make it victorious.

Sen. Norris Visits Classmate at Lake

Waupaca — Senator George W. Norris spent the weekend at the home of his old classmate, E. E. Smith of Dodge City, Kans., at his summer home on Rainbow lake. The visit was to keep a pledge made in 1883 when nine graduates of the University of Valparaiso vowed that "as long as life should last, we'd meet in annual banquet to celebrate the past." Only two remain of the group.

The senator arrived Saturday afternoon with his secretary, John Robertson, and left early Monday morning for the return trip to Washington. Mr. Smith will leave Tuesday for his home after a summer spent at the lakes where he and Senator Norris have been neighbors for the last 30 years. This was the first summer in some years that the senator has not spent at his cottage, Halewa, on Rainbow lake.

Insurance Veto Before Council

Committee to Meet Today for Study of Mayor's Suggestions

Mayor Goodland's veto of the city council's decision to buy $127,530 insurance in city buildings in stock companies will be before the council's insurance committee this afternoon.

The committee's report will be submitted to alderman at a council meeting at 7:30 Wednesday night in city hall.

Mayor Goodland vetoed the insurance renewal because a saving of $500 could be effected by buying the insurance from a mutual company, he said.

In his veto message, Mayor Goodland told the council he wished to support the findings of the committee which, he felt, investigated the matter fully.

He suggested that the premiums from these policies could be placed in a fire insurance fund to be used in the event of fire losses.

'Fair, Warmer,' Is Predicted

Tomorrow to be Partly Cloudy and Warmer; Mercury at 81 Today

Appleton's ideal Labor day weather will be continued tonight, according to the weather forecast of the Milwaukee weather bureau for Wisconsin. Fair and warmer weather is expected for tonight, and Wednesday will be partly cloudy with warmer temperatures in the south and central portions of the state.

Highest temperature recorded in Appleton during the 24-hour period ending at 9 o'clock this morning by the Wisconsin Michigan Power company was 75 degrees at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon. The low of 56 degrees occurred at midnight. The thermometer atop the Post-Crescent building stood at 81 degrees at noon today.

Miles City, Mont., displayed Phoenix, Ariz., at the top of the nation's thermometer with a recording of 100 degrees. The lowest temperature reported by official weather bureau stations throughout the country during the last 24 hours was 49 degrees at Fort Wayne, Ind., and Grand Rapids, Mich.

Willkie Opens Conferences

Nominee Will Meet Republican Leaders From East, Midwest

Rushville, Ind., — (A) — Wendell L. Willkie began today a series of political conferences which will culminate Thursday with a campaign meeting of Republican leaders from 22 eastern and midwestern states and the District of Columbia.

The Republican presidential nominee will discuss with the group plans for organizing party workers for the Nov. 5 election.

Then he will sit at the head table at a luncheon in the Masonic hall, prepared for the Republican officials by members of the Order of Eastern Star. There will be plenty of fried chicken and cream gravy, with big tureens of mashed potatoes.

Willkie worked on campaign addresses yesterday, talked with friends and appeared occasionally on his front porch to wave to crowds of visitors. Mrs. Willkie also was called out of the house and smilingly acknowledged applause.

Association for the Disabled Discusses Handicraft Program

Outagamie county unit of Wisconsin Association for the Disabled was to meet this afternoon at the vocational school to discuss taking part in a program of handicraft work for homebound persons, according to Carl G. Bertram, coordinator of trades and industry.

pledging "death to the traitors" who acquiesced in the agreement. Hastily-organized armed Transylvanians seized communications transportation services and strategic military posts at Sighet, Stau Mare and other towns in the affected territory.

Bucharest itself appeared calmer after the weekend of disturbances but troops still patrolled the streets and kept a close guard on King Carol's palace.

The government, apparently spurred by a semi-official German threat to occupy all of Rumania with nazi troops unless anti-axis legislation is curbed, announced that 281 "alarmists" had been sentenced to concentration camps. The roundup was continuing.

Unconfirmed reports said two units of nazi motorized troops already were poised at the frontier near Sighet.

There were reports meanwhile that soviet Russia had sent a note to Berlin asking clarification of a German guarantee to protect Rumania against further territorial encroachments.

Will Protect Border
German motorized divisions will take over on Sept. 15 protection of Rumania's south Bucovina border newly-formed by Rumania's cession of North Bucovina to soviet Russia, informed sources said today.

This first line of defense against the possibility of any further Russian penetration in that area they said will be centered at Vatra Dornei with Rumania's own forces "dropping back to form a second line in the vicinity of Piatra Neamt."

The reported date for German forces to take over is two days after Hungarian occupation of northern Transylvania, ceded by Rumania under the axis dictate, is slated to be completed.

Swimming Season Ends At Lutz Park Lagoon

Swimming at the Lutz park lagoon will end for the season today, according to Alderman Elvin Bogan, chairman of the city council's recreational committee. The city had stationed 20 attendants at the park to protect swimmers this summer.

$5,000 Loss in Fire at Farm

Large Barn, Grain and Hay Crops Destroyed by Blaze Saturday Night

Sagar Bush—Fire Saturday night destroyed the large barn on the farm of Jack Strossenreuther, three miles west of here, causing a loss of $5,000.

Mr. Strossenreuther discovered the blaze about 10:30, several hours after threshing of the season's crop of grain was completed.

The grain crop, 50 tons of hay, 20 chickens and a silo were destroyed in the fire. The barn, 36 feet by 100 feet, was partly covered by insurance.

Several head of cattle in the barn when the fire started were saved by the owner. The New London fire department was called to the scene and saved the other farm buildings.

What Is Chiropractic?

"Chiropractic is the philosophy, science and art of things natural; a system of adjusting the articulations of the spinal column, by hand only, for correction of the cause of disease."

The brain is a power plant — sending mental impulses a nerve energy down the spinal cord out from between the vertebrae and over the spinal nerves to all parts of the body. When the mental impulses or nerve energies are normal, health results. Quite frequently however the little spinal bones become slightly misplaced — "subluxated," as the Chiropractor calls it, the result of falls, strains, jolts, etc.

When this happens the delicate nerves emitting therefrom are interfered with or pinched so that the impulses or energy from the brain is shut off from the organ or part of the body supplied by the pinched nerve. Such organs become weakened or diseased to the extent that the nerve force has been shut off. Nerve pressure then represents the primary cause of disease, and secondary causes such as weather, germs, etc., would not be effective were these parts of the body not already weakened. If you are to have 100% vitality or health in every part of the body, it is absolutely necessary that you have 100% nerve force going to each part of your body.

1,500 at Park For Labor Day Picnic, Talks

Rutz Supports Current Administration, Says Labor Is Against Draft

Kaukauna—Henry Rutz, Labor day speaker here yesterday afternoon, charged that if the Roosevelt administration is defeated this election and an administration elected that would favor a return of the Hoover policies, the time will be hastened in which this country will have a dictatorship.

The charge was made before a crowd of over 1,500 that attended the Labor day picnic at La Follette park which was sponsored by the Locals 20 and 147 of the International Brotherhood of Pulp, Sulphite, and Papermill Workers.

Attendance at the 2-day picnic and at the parade was placed at over 10,000. Music was furnished both Sunday and Monday afternoons and evenings by the WTAQ Farm Hands.

Rutz, who was formerly state director for workers' education for the Wisconsin Federation of Labor and is now state secretary of the Progressive party federation declared that the only way to get out of the present depression is to lower the maximum working hours to 30 hours a week and to raise the minimum wages.

The speaker also told the Labor day picknickers that the national and state federations of labor were opposed to the idea of compulsory conscription as it would lead to a supplanting of the civic powers now exercised by the mayors, councils, and the police, to the military authorities.

He enumerated several laws the state federation of labor wanted passed by the state legislature, but which were defeated by what he termed the "reactionary Republican-Democratic coalition."

Included in this list was a state health insurance program, the raising of old age benefits and the lowering of the age level to 60 years, and a consumer's research bureau to investigate and limit the sale of dangerous drugs.

The annual Labor day parade was held yesterday morning with the line of march extending from Wisconsin avenue to La Follette park.

The winning floats in the commercial division in the parade were: Sequelentennial queen's float sponsored by the sales department of the Kaukauna Electric and Water department first place, Wagon market, second place, Street grocery, third and Kaukauna Floral company and Rose Hill dairy honorable mention.

The Thilmany Pulp and Paper company float took first place in the industrial division with Kaukauna Machine corporation and the Electric City Brewing company receiving second and third respectively.

In the fraternal division the winning floats were: Fox River Paper company employee, Local 116 of Appleton first place, Thilmany credit union second and the Ladies Auxiliary to Local 147 of the pulp-makers union, third place. Honorable mention was given to the central labor union and the Holy Cross CYO.

Prizes in the comical division went to the St. Lawrence community, first; the joint float of Bauer's tailor shop and the Ed Matchett tavern, second; and the Alhara Tavern third.

Mrs. Heenan will read, and Mrs. Kuchenberg, S. Mason street, to entertain April 29 when Mrs. Walsh will be reader.

The May 13 meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Edward Cummings in Grand Chute and the hostess will review "History of Old New York and the Stuyvesants." The season will close with a banquet May 20.

Rebekahs to Map District Parley Plans

Arrangements for the district Rebekah meeting which will be held in Appleton Sept. 18 will be made at the first fall meeting of Deborah Rebekah lodge Wednesday night at Odd Fellows hall. A pot-luck supper at 6 o'clock will precede the business session, which is scheduled for 8 o'clock.

Bricklayers auxiliary to Local No. 10 will meet at 7:30 this evening at Trades and Lab. hall. The trophy which the auxiliary, in conjunction with the Carpenters and Sheetmetal workers auxiliaries, won for third place in the Labor day parade yesterday will be on display.

Ladies Auxiliary of Eagles will observe visiting day at 2:30 Wednesday afternoon at Eagles hall. Mrs. Joseph Boelsen will be chairman of the committee which consists of Mrs. Ed Boldt, Mrs. Ed Knaack, Mrs. Louis Eisch and Mrs. Catherine Hoffman.

The Entered apprentice degree will be conferred at the meeting of Waverly lodge, No. 51, Free and Accepted Masons, tonight at the Masonic temple.

The first of the public dances which Konic lodge, Independent Order of Odd Fellows, will sponsor this fall and winter will take place Friday night, Sept. 13. Maynard Fields will be chairman of the entertainment committee for the series, his assistants to be Walter Nissen, William Damerow, Henry and Earl Moritz, Charles Goldbeck and Joseph Gabriel.

Leading exports of the Windward islands are bay rum, bay oil, limes, nutmeg and mace.

FOR A COLLEGE GIRL'S WARDROBE—Prospective college girls learned what sort of clothes to wear to rushing parties, football games and fraternity formals at the style show given especially for them last Friday at the Pettibone-Peabody company store. The models, as well as members of the audience, were college girls. In afternoon costumes, the three girls in the first picture are, left to right, Miss Betty Thuerer, student at Principia college, Elmhurst, Ill., Miss Tyla Bae Moon, Menasha, University of Wisconsin co-ed; and Miss Jane Hendy, Menasha, who will study at the National College of Education, Evanston. Two Mount Mary college students, Miss Mary Rose Konrad, in the fox jacket, and Miss Dorothy Plowright, Menasha, in a black velvet gown, are shown in the center in some of the formal clothes they modeled. Miss Barbara Jennings, right, who will be a freshman at Lawrence college this fall, is wearing a rose satin gown with shirred bodice and very full skirt. (Post-Crescent Photos.)

Sororities Prepare for Rush Season

The sorority alumnae meetings, deans' conferences and rushing plans that always come with September in this college town have begun. With an alumna representative from each of the six social sororities on the Lawrence college campus, Dr. Thomas N. Barrows, president, Dr. John Mills and Miss Ruth Cope, dean of women, met for luncheon last week at Riverview Country club to discuss Pan-Hellenic affairs, and a similar luncheon meeting is scheduled for next Saturday.

HOME PLANNING, FINANCING, BUILDING, FURNISHING

Sindahl Company Is Expert at Redecorating

Experienced in Both Exterior, Interior Work

Uses Best Materials; Washable Wall Paint Outstanding Product

The A. C. Sindahl Paint company, 519 W. Wisconsin avenue, is equipped for all types of painting and redecorating.

Both in exterior and interior work, the company combines the best in materials with experience and knowledge in the latest processes in this field.

In the line of materials, for example, the Sindahl firm offers Ce-Lite flatwall paint, the washable oil paint for high grade interior decoration.

This excellent product is a ready-for-use rich oil paint made to dry without gloss. It has a hard, smooth, velvet finish which is strictly non-porous. Because of its outstanding merit, impartial judges regard it as supreme in its field.

Dirt washes of Ce-Lite paint rather than rubs in unlike ordinary paints; it does not dry with a dead, lifeless finish but is distinguished by a velvety smoothness with just the slightest satin sheen. This makes a more sanitary and vastly more durable finish.

Ce-Lite paint works easily under the brush, flows freely, levels out quickly without showing laps or brush marks.

It has no offensive odor and is the ideal material for the modernistic treatment of all interior surfaces of new or old plaster, cement, stucco, wallboard, woodwork, metal ceilings, radiators, burlap and canvas surfaces where a subdued, restful finish is desired.

With this excellent finish, it is possible to produce an almost endless variety of unusual mottled tones and tiffany effects.

Krause Expert At Excavating

Equipment, Experience Combine to Do Digging Quickly, Efficiently

Whether it is an excavation for a modest dwelling or an industrial building, Al Krause and his men have the experience and equipment with which to do the job quickly and efficiently.

Krause, 1348 W. Spencer street, has equipment adapted to making excavations for a wide variety of buildings.

A small (14-yard size) shovel which is easily maneuvered and can work under the most awkward conditions is the nucleus of the Krause equipment.

With a crew of three or four men, Krause handles—swiftly and with a minimum of fuss—projects considerably larger than those in the home building field. He has done the "ground work" for a number of big buildings in this area.

Gas driven, the shovel is designed especially for residential building work. Additional equipment includes an air hammer for digging in frost, stone or concrete.

Heavy Troweling Will Make Good Plaster Walls

The first coat of plaster should be applied with considerable force in order to squeeze the material into the spaces between the laths and up against the lath so the plaster will hold firmly. Good troweling uses up more material than poor work, and this should be allowed for.

All coats of plaster should be well troweled and the last coat should be evenly applied over the

Eisele Engineering Company Assures Heating Satisfaction

As there are many factors that influence the selection of heating equipment—size and shape of house, climate, owner preferences, etc.—the home owner or prospective home builder is advised to avail himself of the expert knowledge and long experience offered by the Eisele Engineering company, 427 W. College avenue. Your heating needs are their prime consideration and the firm is in a position to meet these requirements with the ultimate in satisfaction and economy.

Whether oil, coal or gas is to be used as fuel, whether firing will be by hand or controlled automatically the Eisele Engineering company can supply the heating unit that fits both the house and the pocketbook. All of the furnaces, stokers, oil burners and air conditioning units are neat and compact, giving the home owner almost unlimited space for recreational, laundry, or storage purposes.

Modern, up-to-the-minute scientific developments are incorporated in the various units to assure lower fuel bills and solid comfort. Time proven combustion principles are used so that waste and odors are eliminated.

The important thing, the Eisele firm asserts, is to get the facts and learn the comparative advantages of the heating equipment, automatic or otherwise which is offered by the company and installed by its skilled workmen.

Oil Furnace Is Cure for Winter Heating Troubles

R. Wenzel Plumbing Company Offers New Warm Air Furnace

A complete forced warm air oil furnace especially engineered for the modern home is one of the services offered by the R. Wenzel Plumbing and Heating company, 543 N. Appleton street.

It is the Thornburgh warm air furnace and operates at maximum efficiency at minimum cost. The R. Wenzel company knows it good because the firm heats its own building

Building in Week $13,530

Work on Three New Dwellings Started During Last Week

John A. Pierre, city building inspector issued permits for new building valued at $13,530 last week, including three permits for new homes.

William Neumann, 1625 N. Union street, will build a home at 519 E. Alice street, at a cost of about $5,000. The house will be 20 by 28 feet and the garage, 12 by 20 feet. Rasmussen and Dorschner, Appleton contractors, will build a 5-room house at 1905 S. Adams street, at a cost of about $4,500. The home will be 30 by 26 feet in size. J. A. Ciske, 110 E. Nicholas street, received a permit to build a house at 513 E. Alice street. The home will cost about $3,600 and will be 32 feet long and 26 feet wide. The garage will be 12 by 20 feet in size.

The Eagle Insulation company, 516 N. Oneida street, received permission to build a chimney at its plant to cost about $60; H. H. Brockhaus, 1101 E. Wisconsin avenue, to remodel his home at a cost of about $25; and Julius Wollgram, 1400 N. Division street, to build a garage 18 by 18 feet in size, at a cost of about $75.

Chester Smith, 426 W. Winnebago street, will build an addition to his home at a cost of $30 and Herman Bellin, 715 N. Oneida street, will erect a 12 by 2-foot addition to his home at a cost of about $75.

with the Thornburgh, a new development in furnaces.

The furnace is self contained and occupies floor space of only 26 by 26 inches, less than half of the space covered by units of the same rating. It is 60 inches high. It is simply but sturdily constructed with the idea of all parts being instantly accessible. It operates at 85 per cent over-all efficiency.

The blower and motor of the furnace is automatically controlled by thermostat and the air blower for circulation is automatically controlled by the burner temperature. It is compact for basement or first floor installation.

Home owners who have been using the old method of heating their homes by shoveling coal into basement furnaces on chilly winter mornings will have a real treat in store when they install this automatic oil furnace. No more variations in temperature, especially at night, with the Thornburgh oil furnace.

The Wenzel company is available at any time for any type of plumbing or heating work, either new work or repairs on old systems.

Financing of Home Requires Careful Study

Building and Loan Association Offers Sound, Easy Plan

To build or buy a home is the fulfillment of a dream cherished by all men. Wrong decisions, however, can make it a nightmare of endless worry and grief.

Geo. H. Beckley, secretary of the Appleton Building and Loan association, believes that when a home is purchased, to insure safety for the buyer, the plan of financing should be studied as carefully as the architect's plans and specifications. Both need a solid foundation to avert disaster and trouble.

A bad financial plan that makes a home owner lose the roof over his head is as full of heartbreak as is a weak foundation that causes floors to sag, walls to crack and cellars to flood. Moreover, the financial picture is important because, generally, in a lifetime, no other single outlay involves so large a sum of money for most families. If successfully made, no other investment pays such a tangible return in comfort and happiness.

Need Sound Plan

Because the purchase or construction of a home involves so large an amount, a mortgage debt is almost invariably assumed. If a complete sense of security and proud ownership is to exist, a plan for repayment should be put into operation from the word "go." With the association's new direct reduction loan, the borrower pays no commission charges or other service costs.

The payment that the borrower makes each month on each $1,000 runs from $7.50 up. The borrower himself decides on just what payment he will make with the privilege of paying more at any time. From his payment, the low interest of 4 per cent is subtracted and the balance is applied to the principal. This plan results in a lower interest charge each month because the balance of the loan has been reduced.

Two Rivers—Sponsoring a seven run scoring spree in the fifth inning to keep in the thick of the battle for second half honors in the Northern State League the Seymour club humbled the Two Rivers Polar Bears here Monday afternoon by a score of 7-0. Don Simons was the winning chucker as he kept the Cool City batters in check with six bingles.

Solving the offerings of young Buck Steir for 10 bingles, the Seymour clubbers were led by Norm Clusman who pounded out three doubles, two in one inning. Two Cool City errors in the fatal fifth frame aided the Seymour club in breaking down the score board.

The Polar Bears never were in scoring position during the nine inning stretch which practically puts them out of the race for the second half title.

President Ben Neuman has issued the schedule for the extended period of the league. Wednesday, Sept. 4—Two Rivers at Clintonville; Sunday morning, Sept. 8—Two Rivers at Manitowoc; Sunday afternoon, Sept. 8—New London at Two Rivers; Clintonville at Seymour; Manitowoc at Seymour.

High Lives Drop Final Contests
New London Bows To Manitowoc and Two Rivers Nines

New London — The Miller High Lives rubbed out the last of their Northern State league schedule Sunday but they're not talk about it.

At Manitowoc in the morning they took a 5 to 2 beating and at Two Rivers in the afternoon the same nine was drubbed 5 to 0. Cliff Decker pitched the duo engagement without relief and at least two opponents. His teammates had equaled the performance of his a day at bat and in the field. Against the Shipbuilders, the High Lives never got more than one hit an inning until the ninth when a 4-hit rally fell short with only two runs. The winners bunched their hits.

The Polar Bears hit hard for their marks while the locals couldn't muster anything better than a single. In the second frame Bush tallied Schultz and himself for a hard hit inside the ball park that went for a homer, and a triple by Posewitz in the eighth set the stage for two more. Errors gave them one in the seventh.

Unless a postponed game must be made up by Seymour, the High Lives will pack up for the season, according to Manager Len Polaski.

BY DICK DAVIS

It was too bad both teams couldn't win. No matter which way the game went at Seymour Sunday, it was a tough one to lose and a dandy one to win.

In one of the best Northern State league tussles of the season, Manager Bill Row's proteges scored the only run of the game in the last half of the ninth inning to turn back Manitowoc George Hiesik whipped 'em in for the Ships and allowed only three hits but the third one counted for the lone Seymour tally, Annie Kelly having drawn a walk, taking second on a wild pitch and scooting for the plate when Eggert, good old "Baldy," planted a single in right field.

Larry Ruck scattered seven hits effectively and drew brilliant support from his Seymour teammates. Seymour sparked all the way, pulling three double plays in the first three innings and playing errorless ball. "Booze" Bowers, Eggert and Kelly made some brilliant catches in the garden. Bowers nabbing some that looked like certain extra-base hits.

Only One Error
Only one Manitowoc man got beyond first base and he finally was left high and dry on third. The Ships turned in a double play in the first frame to feature their defensive tactics. Powell was the only Seymour man, besides Kelly, to get a view of the proceedings from second base, gaining the keystone sack on a safety to center field and an error, the only misdeed of the battle.

It was a heartbreaker for Hiesik to lose. His team gave him swell support and he kept the Seymour sluggers well in check. Hiesik rose to the heights in the sixth inning when he fanned the first three men on the Seymour batting list, then giving Ruck a walk. He struck out five and gave four free trips.

Ruck really had stuff on the ball Sunday and kept most of the balls in the infield. "Shorty" Zuidmiller getting 10 putouts at first base gave Ruck more than one hit in any inning. He shaded Hiesik in the control department and that, of course, had a lot to do with the outcome.

Tense Ninth Frame
Things grew pretty tense in the ninth inning when Hein caught hold of one that looked like a home run. Bowers got on his horse, however, and tucked it away in his back pocket. McCambridge smacked a fly into right field and Kelly took it with ease. It was ditty for Krauss.

Kelly, first man up for Seymour, worked out the string and then trotted to first. Left-handeders, incidentally, seem to have an Indian sign on Hiesik. Eggert tried his hand at bunting and after fouling a couple he decided to take a cut at it. He did and it was all over but the shouting. Kelly streaking for the plate with the winning tally.

YESTERDAY'S STARS

By The Associated Press
Vernon Kennedy and Elden Auker, Browns—Former beat Indians in first game with seven-hit pitching and made three hits himself; latter held American league leaders to five defeats in nightcap.

Bill Dietrich and John Rigney, White Sox—Combined with two fine pitching performances to whip Tigers in doubleheader, Rigney allowing only two hits in second game.

Danny Litwiler and Bob Bragan, Phillies—Former batted in six runs with three hits, including grand-slam homer in first game against Giants and tripled for two in night cap which Bragan decided with home in tenth inning.

Paul Derringer, Reds, and Lon Warneke, Cardinals—Former's five hit pitching brought him his eighteenth triumph in first game while latter kept a dozen scattered effectively in second game and rapped out a long single.

Marius Russo, Yankees, and John Babeich, Athletics—They divided doubleheader with two five-hit pitching jobs.

Sid Hudon and Jack Sanford and Ken Chase, Senators—Hudson beat Lefty Grove in 13-inning hurling duel in first game, shutting out Red Sox and winning 1-0 on Sanford's single; Chase spaced six hits and fanned seven to win second game.

Truett Sewell, Pirates, and Stanley Hack and Bill Nicholson, Cubs—Sewell scored his thirteenth victory with seven-hit hurling in opener. Hack made three hits and Nicholson batted in three runs with a homer in second session.

Al Javery, Bees, and Curt Davis, Dodgers—Former allowed only three hits in 10-2-3 innings of relief work to win first game; latter kept eight scattered and hit a homer with one on in nightcap.

GRID STAR AND BRIDE—Esco Sarkkinen, end on Ohio State's championship football team last season, and the former Freda Burkhardt, of Portsmouth, O., are shown in Cleveland shortly after their marriage. They postponed their honeymoon until after a game between the Cleveland Rams professional team and a group of Midwestern All-Stars in Cleveland.

Novakofski Scores as Chiefs Beat Rangers

Weyauwega — The Milwaukee Chiefs showed they are steadily gaining momentum for the American Professional Football league season by whipping a bulky Gogebic Rangers team from Ironwood, Mich. here Sunday, 34-0.

The Chiefs uncovered a number of potential stars as they faced and passed to an easy victory over the Rangers and exhibited vast improvement over their performance against the Little Chute Flying Dutchmen the previous Sunday. A crowd of 2,500 attended.

Obbie Novakofski, former Lawrence star, made the Milwaukee team's second touchdown in the first quarter, galloping around right end from the nine yard line after his running and passing had helped put the Chiefs in position for a score. Obbie started the game at left half, but after he had displayed his prowess at ball carrying and tossing, retired while Coach "Tiny" Cahoon looked over all available backfield talent. Cahoon has to start parring the squad down to the legal limit and Sunday's game was more or less of a laboratory in which to test the boys.

The game was only a few minutes old when it produced its outstanding play of the afternoon. Novakofski had returned a Ranger punt about 15 yards to the opponents' 45. Big John Doering former Bear fullback renowned for his long-range artillery, fell back to about mid-field and flung a 50-yard pass that Joe Murray, left end, caught in the end zone. Humphrey, Chiefs center, missed the kick.

Recover Fumble
Soon after, Akin, former Baylor guard now playing for the Chiefs, recovered a Ranger fumble lateral on the Joe's 35. Novakofski slanted off tackle for five yards and then passed to Barnes, former Baylor end and one of the game's stars, on the 19. Doering crashed for nine yards in two tries and Myre scampered around end to the nine-yard line and a first down. Novakofski then carried right end for the marker, throwing off the clutches of several Rangers on the way. Eckl, former Badger tackle, kicked the point after to make it 13-0.

It was in the second quarter that the Rangers made their only serious stab at scoring. Matrella passed to Klekovich for a nine yard gain to the Chiefs' 35. Matrella then took a pass from Tumbula on the Chiefs' 13. Klekovich plunged to the 10, but here the Milwaukee club latched up its pants and got tough. A running play failed and two passes were incomplete.

Later in the second quarter, Art Blaha, a durable fullback from Dubuque, started another Chiefs touchdown campaign by sprinting nine yards to his own 41. Barnes dropped a pass, Blaha made another yard or so, and then Dave Strong, of Michigan, threw a perfect strike to Barnes for a 22-yard gain. Blaha turned the end to the Rangers 22 and Strong passed the rest of the distance to Hickey, once of St. Norbert, for the third touchdown. Eckl kicked goal, making it 20-0.

The Chiefs opened their fourth touchdown march from their own 40 soon after the second half opening. Runs by Johnny Maltisch, of Marquette, and Blaha brought the Chiefs to the Rangers' 45. Maltisch then passed to Barnes who lateraled to Blaha, the play being good to the 25. Little Johnny reversed to the 15 and then threw a touchdown pass to Barnes in the end zone. Eckl kicked goal, making it 27-0.

Becker, Stevens Point back, and Carson of Illinois led a Chiefs drive that brought them to the Ironwood team's 35 late in the third quarter, but the offensive was turned back when the Rangers intercepted a pass on the 31.

Runs by Wilson, Myre, and Doering in the last quarter brought the ball to the 7-yard-line, but Doering fumbled and Ironwood recovered on the 18. The Rangers punted out to Weenie Wilson who brought it back to his own 45. He then passed to Murray for eight yards and Blaha bored through for a first down. Weenie completed another aerial, this one to Barnes on the 38, and flung a third to Blaha who was nailed on the 18. The Rangers were penalized 15 yards for defensive holding when Phillips, the fullback, grabbed Barnes by the jersey. On the next play, Maltisch passed to a former Marquette teammate, Berwanger, for a touchdown and Eckl added the extra point to make the count 34-0.

Doering gave a passing exhibition between halves, thrilling the crowd with 60 and 70-yard heaves and then winding it up by tossing 30 and 40-yard passes, with consistent accuracy, behind his back.

Negrini, Ironwood center, suffered a severe back injury in the game and was taken to a New London hospital.

Shroba Hurls No-Hit, No-Run Tilt for Dukes

Minneapolis —(7)—Joe Schroba, husky right-hander of the Duluth Dukes, hurled a no-hit, no-run game in the Northern League at Superior last night for a 4-0 victory after the Blues had won the afternoon game, 13-9.

The no-hitter was the third such game in the league this season, Del Leslie of Fargo-Moorhead and Karl Wolsberger of Grand Forks achieving the feat earlier.

Schroba struck out 12 and only 29 batters faced him. He gave two walks and both these runners reached third but failed to score.

Grand Forks came within a half game of clinching the pennant by defeating Crookston twice, 4-0 and 2-0, establishing a lead of 61 games over Winnipeg which split a double header with Fargo-Moorhead, winning the first, 10-9 and losing the second 17-14.

Wausau won two games from Eau Claire, 13-7 and 10-1.

State Reports Plenty of Game For Huntsmen

Above Normal Deer Crop Available; Bird Program Reaches Peak

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

Madison — State sportsmen will find an above normal crop of deer available to them during the 8-day season this fall, conservation department officials said today, as they disclosed that the state has also reached the peak in artificial pheasant production and stocking and has again broken its own world record for artificial fish propagation.

The department this year released a total of about 300,000 pheasants, according to H. W. MacKenzie, reaching the goal set recently for that phase of the state's game production program. State authorities feel that the 300,000 figure, if maintained each year, is high enough to sustain a plentiful crop of pheasants, despite heavy tolls during recent seasons.

Last year about 450,000 pheasant cocks were shot in the state. About 250,000 cocks and hens were stocked during the same year.

Good Duck Shooting
One reason for the heavy pheasant shooting last year, it was explained, was the relatively poor duck season. This year experts predict an excellent duck season, particularly in inland water areas, because of good water conditions.

It is believed that the annual stocking of 300,000 pheasants, plus continued attention to cover and feed problems to encourage natural reproduction at an accelerated pace, will assure good pheasant crops in the state in the future.

Meanwhile a preliminary report from the state department of fisheries revealed total plantings of 1,500,000 fish thus far this year, with planting operations not yet finished in some waters.

Last year the department set a new world record with a total artificial production and planting through the string of state hatcheries of about 1,200,000.

Experiments Continue
It is unlikely, state authorities observe, that the 1,500,000 figure will be improved upon in the future.

Experiments in upland game breeding continue at the state game farm at Poyette, according to MacKenzie, with the arrival of several specimens of sooty grouse, a foreign breed native to Canada, state game specialists will try to determine if the species will be suitable for stocking on northern Wisconsin barrens, it was said. The grouse were shipped in from the government game experimental farm in Alaska.

Driver Killed, 3 Hurt In Motorcycle Races

Langhorne, Pa. —(7)—Ed Kretz of Wilmar, Calif. held the national 100-mile motorcycle championship today—won in a race which cost the life of one driver and injured three others, none seriously.

A Labor day crowd of 20,000 at the Langhorne speedway saw George Matheson, 32-year-old Paterson, N. J. racer hurled to death when his machine skidded coming into the stretch turn on the second lap.

Kretz, driving an Indian, set a time of 72.57 minutes.

Jock Sutherland Working on Top-Ranking Team for Dodgers

(This is the ninth of a series of stories on clubs in the National Professional football league)

Princeton, N. J. —(7)—Dr. John Bain Sutherland, who was a good dentist and might have been a great politician, now is the main reason why the Brooklyn Dodgers are as interesting to pro-football fans this season as the Champion Green Bay Packers or the New York and Washington clubs, rivals for eastern division honors in the National league last fall.

The four Scot from Pittsburgh was probably the most famous college coach since the days of Knute Rockne before he cast his lot with the Dodgers. In 15 years at Pitt his teams won 111 games, lost 20, and tied twelve. Four of them went to the Rose Bowl. No one expects Jock to compile any such record in the tough pro league, least of all Owner Dan Topping. He isn't looking for a championship this year or next.

But he's staking one of the largest salaries paid a football coach upon the expectation that Sutherland will give the Brooklyn fans plenty to cheer about.

Topping also is putting out a good bit of cash to get promising new players into the Brooklyn camp. His latest acquisition is Banks McFadden, all-American halfback from Clemson, who joined the squad yesterday after putting on a great performance in the all-star game at Chicago.

Ben Kish and Dick Cassiano, a couple of Sutherland's best Pittsburgh products, will report after tomorrow's eastern all-star game at New York. Other fine rookie backs are George (Ead News) Caffey of Tennessee, Rhett Shelley, a former fullbacking back from Furman, Frank Zadworney of Ohio State and George Daugherty, a "find" from Howard college of Alabama.

In the line are such newcomers as Bill Bailey, Duke's all-southern conference end; Tony Shamis and Ed (Ty) Coon, a pair of fine tackles from Manhattan and North Carolina, respectively; Red Heater of Syracuse, another burly tackle, and Steve Petro, Pitt guard.

An All-College Staff
For more than three weeks Sutherland and his assistants, Mike Getto and Johnny Michelosen—the first all-college coaching staff to command a pro team—have been working to build the right combination of rookie and veteran talent and to mould the Dodgers into his famous Pittsburgh pattern.

He readily admits that the line looks good. In fact, only end Perry Schwartz and tackle Bruiser Kline seem certain to hold their jobs. As for the backfield, Ace Parker, the Dodgers' outstanding back, still is recovering from a broken ankle suffered in a baseball game last May. He is expected to return after the first game or two. Then there's Pug Manders, a 210-pounder who developed into one of the league's best ground-gainers last year, Wendell Butcher, Len Janak, Sam Francis and Ralph Kercheval.

There are three departments in which the Dodgers fairly ooze strength—kicking, passing and pass receiving. They have a great forward passing duo in Parker and Schwartz and McFadden may give the club an edge in defense against passes. He intercepted three in the end zone in Clemson's Cotton Bowl victory over Boston college. Kercheval holds all kinds of records in the kicking department and he made last year's longest field goal, a 47-yard shot against the Giants.

Star Kansas Athlete Will be on Sidelines
Topeka, Kas. —(7)—Ralph Miller of Chanute, star University of Kansas gridster and basketball player, said today he would not participate in either sport during the 1940-41 school year so that his injured knee would have full opportunity to mend.

"My knee feels fine but I'm going to lay out for a year and give it a good rest," Miller told newsmen. "I plan to enter school, though."

One of the most highly rated high school athletes ever developed in Kansas, he hurt his knee in the Iowa State football game in 1938 and was out for the season.

Yanks Hold 2nd by Less Than a Point

BY JUDSON BAILEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

The American league is heading for its wildest windup in modern history. The big labor day blow off which incidentally brought out 264,000 fans — 173,000 in American league parks — just about raised everybody's temperature to the boiling point.

Both the Cleveland Indians and Detroit Tigers dropped double-headers while the New York Yankees split with the Philadelphia Athletics before 69,940 fans at Yankee stadium.

The world champions thus moved into second place by a slender percentage margin, 5634 to 5625, over the Detroit Tigers while the lead of the Indians over each now is 31 games.

The National league, which usually stages the big September show, already has virtually awarded the championship to the Cincinnati Reds for another term and the fact that all the first division clubs in that circuit divided the spoils yesterday didn't change matters.

The fact that the Yankees' winning streak finally was sliced at eight games may have furnished some encouragement to their rivals.

Yanks Stopped
With Lefty Marous Russo pitching five-hit ball the Yanks had no trouble taking the opener from the A's 6-3. They simply couldn't do anything with the "slider" of Johnny Babeich in the nightcap and were shutout 3-0 on five hits. The outcome gave them a record of 14 victories in 16 games during their home stand.

Cleveland's collapse was another scalp to the credit of the St. Louis Browns, who have made life miserable for every club in the first division. The unpredictable Vernon Kennedy held the Indians to seven hits in the opener and rapped out three hits himself to lead the Browns to a 2-1 triumph. In the nightcap, Elden Auker submarined a 3-0 shutout, yielding only five safeties.

The Tigers met the same fate at Chicago, smashing to pieces on the hurling of Bill Dietrich and John Rigney. Julius Solters broke up the first game with a single in the eighth for a 2-1 decision. Buck Newsum, Tiger hurler, was the victim. He was Newsum's third defeat against 17 victories.

Rigney tossed two-hit ball for the Sox in the afterpiece, giving his teammates their twelfth win over the Tigers in 19 games this season.

Rookie Beets Grove
The most astounding pitching duel of the day, however, was a 13-inning struggle between old Lefty Grove of the Boston Red Sox and young Sid Hudson of the Washington Senators. Youth finally prevailed — Len Rookie Jack Sanford singled across a run in the thirteenth to win 1-0 for Washington, Grove, who was supposed to be out for the rest of the season with

The bidding:		West		North		East		South
Pass		Pass		1 club		1 no trump		Pass
Pass		Pass		2 no trump		Pass		Pass
Pass		Pass		Pass		Pass		Pass

East's opening club bid was very light, but as a nonvulnerable bid in third position was in accord with accepted match-point tactics. Had South been on a basis of similar vulnerability there would have been to pass as a trap, or to make a take-out double which might possibly be left in by North for penalties. But, vulnerability conditions being what they were, South's one no trump overall (tan amount to an opening no trump bid) was eminently correct, as was the rest of the bidding.

West led the club seven. Dummy ducked and East won with the ace, then shifted to the heart jack. Declarer carefully won this in his own hand, cashed the king and queen of spades, then, after profound thought, boldly overtook his own spade jack with dummy's ace. On the surface this play looks rash, since if the spades fail to break 3-3 declarer has thrown away a spade trick. But declarer figured that if the worst happened and the spades failed to break he would be able to recapture the lost trick in another suit, whereas if he found a 3-3 break he would be in position for a coup which, on the bidding, had a splendid chance to succeed. Its success, however, depended squarely on retaining dummy's heart ace entry until the right moment, as we shall see.

To declarer's great satisfaction the spade broke. Now dummy's fourth spade was cashed, declarer discarding a diamond, then the club finesse was taken and the club king cashed. Now declarer set the stage for the big final scene. He cashed his remaining heart honor and led to the heart ace. At this point dummy was down to the club 10 and the Q-4 of diamonds. East had had to discard a heart in order to keep the club queen and the guarded king of diamonds. The lead of the club 10 made him acutely uncomfortable, since he had to win and return a diamond to the combined tenace in the North-South hands. Thus declarer made two overtricks which gave him top score on the board.

Tomorrow's hand.

Good Taste Today by Emily Post

RESTAURANT CHECK

Dividing a restaurant check evenly between the men in the party is admittedly the easiest way to settle accounts, but as the following letter explains, it might be most unfair to some one of them.

"My husband and I recently were invited to join three other couples who are in the habit of going out together. At the end of the evening one of the men took the check, looked it over, and then divided the total amount by four. The others quite obviously were used to paying the check this way, so my husband could of course say nothing. We have very little money for going out, and naturally I ordered the least expensive items on the menu, as did my husband. Later when we had to pay for the expensive things the six others ate it seemed to us not only unfair, but it put us in the very embarrassing position of having to borrow from the person we knew best in order to make up our share. Although we do enjoy their company, we hardly dare risk going out on another such occasion. Could you suggest anything that we could do? And will you also tell us if this is what people call 'Dutch Treat'?"

I think the only thing you can do is to explain to these people, the next time they ask you to go on a similar party, that you hate to bring up the subject but that you will be glad to go only if you and your husband pay just for the food you order. This would be much better.

Beauty and You

CLEANLINESS—Thorough washing of face and hands, especially before eating, is a grooming habit every young child should learn early. Cleanliness prevents disease.

The first days of school can be terrifying to the young, and they can become "scary" days too. Children, as you know, are cruel little beasts with one another and the sensitive, timid child suffers greatly from the ribbing and teasing in which the smart-alecs delight.

If you are a wise parent or guardian, you will prepare your daughter for the back-to-school ordeal. Boys, more or less, learn at an early age to either ignore the bullying or to team up with him, so his feelings are not so easily hurt. But a daughter needs a bit of pre-schooling.

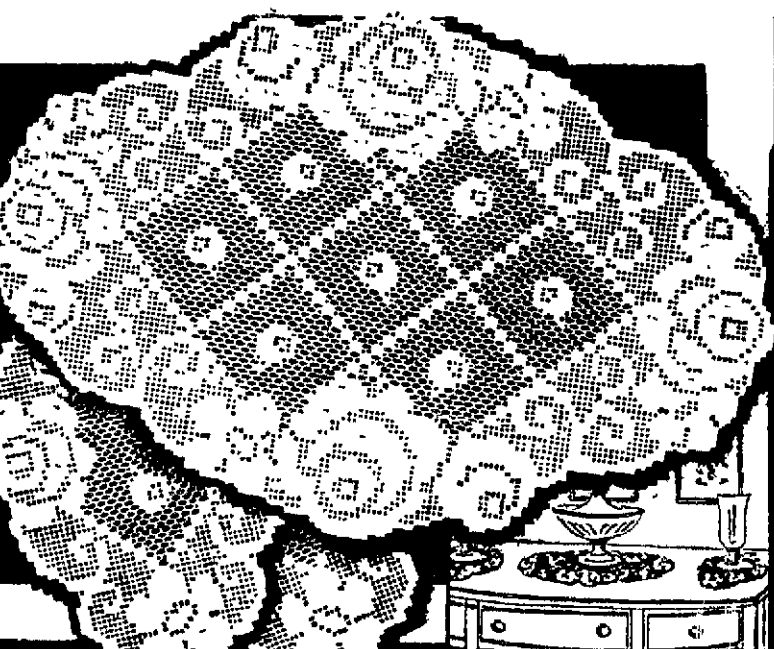

First, take time to teach her grooming. See that all signs of summer neglect are banished. Her hair and scalp should be shampooed and brushed to glossy loveliness. Her nails should be neatly manicured, her face skin and body clean. If it is within your power give her a new dress for the first BIG DAY, so she will feel equal to all the other little girls in school. The new dress means a lot. Can you remember when you were young and how you fingered that precious, gay gingham for days before school actually opened?

Vanity begins when one is young, and it is a normal characteristic which should be wisely coddled, for the proud young lady is a normal, healthy child. A pride in her appearance is a fine thing.

Only Male At Afternoon Party
Dear Mrs. Post: My mother, father, and sister are coming to visit me. I would like to give an afternoon party to have my friends meet them. If I invite my friends in the evening I shall have to invite the men and this would make too many for my house. So I'll just have a party in the afternoon when the men are busy. But does this mean that I have to omit my father and just invite the women to meet my mother and sister?

Answer: If your father is willing to be one man alone among a dozen women, there is no reason why he can not stay at home with you. He can, of course, stay all the time if he wants to, but it is more than likely that he will stay only long enough to meet your friends, and then leave either for an engagement elsewhere or for another part of the house.

Self Activity Essential In Making Real Progress

BY ANGELO PATRI

The only real education is the personal one that develops the powers of the individual. Teaching that attempts to inform and enlighten and function the powers of a mass of pupils is ineffective and wasteful.

It is true that fifty children can learn a fact at the same time. But education is concerned with what each child does with the fact after he has memorized it. That is an individual matter and has to do directly with the quality and the kind of the child's learning. The real educational problem lies there.

One child stores the words in his memory and allows the idea to end there. One turns the words over and over in his mind trying to tie them to some experience, to some other ideas in his mind, searching to discover what use he has for them in his way of life. Still another forgets the whole thing as soon as he has recited the words to the teacher and has been rated on the recitation. The teacher, knowing these things about her pupils, assigns to each the necessary lesson to enable him to progress—each according to his need.

To one she will offer books that treat of this idea more fully and in varied ways. To another a bit of handwork that will clear his thinking on the subject and increase his interest in it. To the weak ones who lost the point, a personal experience coupled with a lesson that sharpens the idea. Each will be shown a way of strengthening and using his power. That is what education of the individual is all about.

All children ought to have handwork every school day. It should be work that allows release of personal feeling, an expression of some inner wish to create, whenever possible. But if a child indicates no desire for such an expression he should receive suggestions, be offered opportunities to try out experiences, until he does find something he greatly longs to do or to become.

Handwork is important to these children because it is the one sure way of discovering personal characteristics, strengths and weaknesses. Then, too, it is the one sure road to the great essential in the education of the individual self-activity.

The Way to Self-Development

The teacher may teach by lecturing, testing, reviewing and lecturing again, but until the pupil takes over the activity latent in the idea and of his own accord begins creating with his expression of it, he is not learning in the true sense because he is not growing.

It is difficult for teachers and parents to understand that a child is learning nothing when he recites correctly. But he does nothing about the ideas he is storing as facts. Growth comes to the individual only when he acts upon his knowledge. That is why handwork is the first step on the road to the education of the individual. It is an easy, sure, pleasant road to self-development.

We have enough equipment, enough teachers, enough schools to do individual teaching. What we are waiting for is the change of view of the educators, the leaders.

Mr. Patri will give personal attention to inquiries from parents and school teachers on the care and development of children. Write him in care of this paper, enclosing a three-cent stamped, addressed envelope for reply.

Case Records of a Psychologist

By Dr. George W. Crane

Psychologist, Northwestern University

Emotional immaturity is the greatest cause of divorce. Phyllis is an excellent example of a grandstanding prima donna who beats her breasts, tears her hair and threatens suicide because she loves herself more than she loves her husband. If she had had a few brothers during her childhood and had consequently learned some of the natural give-and-take of life, she'd know that everybody has to play second fiddle once in a while to win the coveted rewards of a life.

CASE R-162: Phyllis M., aged 24, has been married for two years. "But I am utterly wretched," she wept. "My husband is in love with his secretary."

"He confessed to me, and said he couldn't help himself. He is infatuated. He has never had a date with her, but she dominates his thoughts."

"Dr. Crane, I simply cannot stand it to take second place. I can't eat. I have told him to get a divorce, but he refuses. I simply cannot live in the same town any longer if that girl is to be in it."

"I finally told him that I would end it all if he didn't discharge her, so he did, but I still feel so wretched, there is nothing left to live for."

DIAGNOSIS:
Phyllis is behaving like a spoiled child who throws a temper tantrum because he cannot have what he wants the moment he wants it. She doesn't love her husband as much as she loves Phyllis. Her moaning and weeping are not so much because of her husband's mental unfaithfulness, as because of a desire to dramatize herself and indulge in fits of self-pity. She is grandstanding.

People who indulge in such self-pity are intense egotists and therefore juvenile in their emotional development, for children are so self-centered at birth that we label the first stage in emotional development the "egotistic" stage.

Phyllis has led too sheltered and mollycoddled an existence. If she had been a nurse in war-ravaged Europe or if she were spending her days doing settlement work in the tenements of her city, she'd get wise to the fact that her misery is nothing compared to the real variety experienced by millions of others who actually have something to cry about.

Wounded Girl's Vanity
Phyllis is a self-pitying adolescent who refuses to face facts. Instead of resolutely trying to win her husband back by fighting fire with fire, she is browbeating and nagging.

Her threats to end it all, are simply evidence of further attempts at clubbing him into submission. I trust you readers will not consider me too callous in dissecting this young woman's apparent domestic tragedy, but women of her sort should have had the hairbrush applied more frequently in their childhood, and should have been forced into group play where they would have learned the give-and-take of normal life.

Her husband is no fiend. He is a moral, high principled man who honestly admitted his infatuation. He has had no affair with the other woman. He has only kissed the latter a few times.

Horse Sense in Marriage
He wants to do the right thing, so he refuses to divorce his wife. He even discharged his secretary at his wife's hysterical insistence. Now if Phyllis would just act like an adult, instead of a grandstanding infant, she could win him back, for the odds almost always favor the wives.

Why doesn't she act sweet and seductive herself? Why doesn't she go fishing or golfing with him, and thus try to build up a common man's of pleasant emotional experiences? If she's keep her mouth shut about this little romantic episode, and bide her time, she'd have, his grateful love forever. Instead, she keeps making such a scene that it is any wonder he may compare her unfavorably with the other woman? If you had to choose between a poised, jolly girl and a grandstanding shrew, who wouldn't grow fonder of the former?

GOOD THINGS FOR THE HOME

Marie Schneider's Tested Recipes

Cornbread is like "pease porridge hot, pease porridge cold," for some like it this way and some another. There are those, who prefer white cornmeal and those who cry out in a loud voice against the use of sugar in cornbread. There are those who declare only yellow cornmeal should be used. Some like it with white flour, some without.

So in an attempt to please all palates I've selected four different cornbread recipes for today's offering.

Corn Pone
2 cups corn meal
1 cup buttermilk
1 teaspoon soda
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon sugar
2 tablespoons baking powder
2 tablespoons shortening
1 to 1 1/2 cup water

Sift cornmeal once before measuring. Then sift together cornmeal, soda, salt, sugar, and baking powder. Cut in shortening, then add milk. Add water, enough to make a soft dough but stiff enough to make into pones or thin cakes with hands. Bake on hot greased pan in a hot oven 425 degrees F., for 15 to 20 minutes.

Virginia Spoon Bread
1 cup cornmeal
1 1/2 teaspoons salt
2 1/2 teaspoons baking powder
2 cups milk, scalded
2 eggs, separated
Mix cornmeal and salt, stir into hot milk and cook over hot water until thick and smooth, stirring occasionally. Cool slightly. Stir in baking powder and well beaten egg yolks. Fold in stiffly beaten egg whites. Turn into greased casserole or 9-inch square pan. Bake in moderate oven 375 degrees F. about 35 minutes or until firm and crust is brown. Serve from baking dish.

Cornbread Sticks
1 cup cornmeal
1 1/2 cups liquid (half milk and half water)
2 teaspoons baking powder
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 egg, slightly beaten
2 tablespoons shortening, melted
Mix and sift cornmeal, making powder and salt. Combine egg, milk and water, add to cornmeal lock, knowing what I do about her. We are also direct opposites in every respect except our mutual love. She hasn't had much of an education, whereas I am a college graduate. I would always be embarrassed by her in the company of my friends and family. Everything I say to her has to be literally blue-printed to enable her to understand it. If I marry her, I am sure it will be a hellish nightmare for me. Her past would constantly flaunt itself in my face. I could never trust her. Never! There is no reason on God's earth for my loving her except that I do. I have tried to break with her, but I can't. Is there any help for me?

Answer: What you feel for this girl is infatuation, not love. Infatuation is a fierce fire that burns itself out if you will give it time.

The love that lasts has to have in it something more than physical attraction. It has to have respect, and faith, and congeniality. And, according to your own account, this girl has none of these qualities. And while the body speaks a boy is deaf to the warnings that his conscience, and his intelligence shouts to him in vain.

I know of no other thing in life more tragic than that a man should be obsessed by a passion for a woman whom he despises, yet whom he is powerless to resist, as was the hero of Maugham's great story "Of Human Bondage." Read that over again. It will give you a clearer insight into your problem than anything that I can say.

But, at any rate, do not marry any girl who is so completely out of your class as this one is. To begin with, you cannot reform her. She has lived a loose life too long to be able to be bound down by your standards and she would be miserable in the conventional life you would try to force upon her. She would always be damaged goods that your family and friends would refuse to accept.

Nor would you long be happy with an ignorant and uneducated wife. She would bore you to tears with her babble and her artless opinions, and you would be ashamed of her unfamiliarity of the niceties of life, and you would curse the day when you let a boy's fancy drag you into such a marriage. Time is the only remedy for your infatuation. Give it a chance to do its perfect work.

You Can Have Dates Without Petting
Dear Mrs. Dix:—We are a group of girls who think that any girl who has to pay for all the attention she receives from boys is just plain dumb. We are popular, have many dates with boys and have always found ourselves to be capable of putting off advances. Of course, the boys will pet if they are given a chance, but the decent ones among them do not desire to ignore a girl who makes herself unlikable. On the contrary, they admire her. If a girl is an entertaining companion who makes a boy have a good time, a good dancer and a good listener when he goes out with her; if she is a good dancer and a good listener and not too stupid for words, we can't see why she can't have all the dates she wants without petting. Do you?

Answer: I certainly do not. For in the good old days when boys treated girls with respect instead little more this morning. Which might be merely the result of lost sleep.

Julia was sitting on the side of the bed staring at the floor when I came in. I gave her the damp cloth and while she scrubbed her face, told her about our lunch date.

"Sweet," she said huskily. "Now I don't have to keep to my room and answer dumb questions. I wouldn't want them to know about this, they're so thick—why Mimi has promoted this marriage as if her life depended on it. Not," she added with instinctive fairness, "that she could have brought it off without their cooperation. I'm not fool enough to blame her."

While she made herself presentable, and while we drove the ten miles to Fieldstone Inn I encouraged her to talk about about Jeff and Sandra, and about Mimi. I learned much that had been vague in my mind before—perhaps more than Julia knew she was telling me. More, certainly, than I had sense enough to recognize until later, when I began putting the pieces together.

There was only one thing she omitted, and I don't know yet whether she simply didn't think of it, or whether she kept silent from a sense of loyalty to her father and Mimi. For it was not until a long time later I learned about Mimi—where Colonel Pennant met her, and how he came to marry her. And that piece of information was to make clear much that puzzled me.

She talked now wistfully, with nostalgia, of the years just concluded at West Point. Colonel Pennant on duty at the post, Jeff a cadet, Mimi a bride; Julia at home week ends and vacations from boarding school.

I had been there one never-to-be-forgotten June Week the year Charlie graduated; but I had not known Julia then. It was a strange feeling to remember that week—the hops, the parades, the baseball games, the horse shows.

High hearted days through which

THE HOME GARDENER

by EDWIN H. PERKINS

Later you will have, plenty of gardening chores to perform in a short period of time, so make the most of cool evenings by doing many little jobs which, when once done, can be promptly forgotten.

Little thought of until too late is the simple task of laying in some potting soil for the winter and early spring. Such soil will come in handy for pepping up the house plants in need of repotting, or for mixing with fertilizers for top dressing. Remember too, it is almost impossible to collect soil for early seed sowing indoors once the ground has become frozen.

You should store up a box or barrel bag filled with screened garden or field loam, the same quantity of sharp sand and another lot of either humus material without fertilizer value such as peat moss, or better still a quantity of well decayed and thoroughly dry cattle manure. The latter may be obtained on one of your jaunts to the country or you may get it from a seedsmen.

Your own experience from other years will dictate the quantities you may need. Of course if you dislike mixing your own soil, the florists will sell you potting soil at whatever time you may need it.

Of course, when a boy takes a girl out he wants some sort of a run for his money. He doesn't want to spend it on taking a girl to a dance who has to be towed around like a barge and whom nobody else will ask to take a turn.

Nor does he want to spend an evening with a dull, stupid girl who has nothing to say, or with one who chatters like a magpie, or with one who can never think of anything amusing and entertaining to do.

But if a girl is companionable, if she is fun to be with and if she makes a boy feel that she is having the time of her life just being with him, she doesn't have to throw in a lot of necking to make him want to see her again.

Every girl writes her own price with boys and they treat her the way she demands to be treated.

Friend's Advice Is Proper Here
Dear Dorothy Dix—I am a school teacher. Have taught for the past 40 years. I have always wanted to get married, but could not find the right man. Now I have found him, but he is 20 years younger than I am. My friend advises me against marrying him, saying I am too old for him and I will ruin his life. I think my friend is jealous, as she is also unmarried. What would you advise me to do?

Answer: I would say to take your friend's advice. No man marries a woman 20 years older than himself except to get somebody to take care of him. Evidently this man thinks you have saved up enough to support him in comfort, and that it is easier to work a wife than it is to work at a job. Believe me, you will have a miserable old age if you marry a young husband.

DOROTHY DIX.

little more this morning. Which might be merely the result of lost sleep.

Julia was sitting on the side of the bed staring at the floor when I came in. I gave her the damp cloth and while she scrubbed her face, told her about our lunch date.

"Sweet," she said huskily. "Now I don't have to keep to my room and answer dumb questions. I wouldn't want them to know about this, they're so thick—why Mimi has promoted this marriage as if her life depended on it. Not," she added with instinctive fairness, "that she could have brought it off without their cooperation. I'm not fool enough to blame her."

While she made herself presentable, and while we drove the ten miles to Fieldstone Inn I encouraged her to talk about about Jeff and Sandra, and about Mimi. I learned much that had been vague in my mind before—perhaps more than Julia knew she was telling me. More, certainly, than I had sense enough to recognize until later, when I began putting the pieces together.

There was only one thing she omitted, and I don't know yet whether she simply didn't think of it, or whether she kept silent from a sense of loyalty to her father and Mimi. For it was not until a long time later I learned about Mimi—where Colonel Pennant met her, and how he came to marry her. And that piece of information was to make clear much that puzzled me.

She talked now wistfully, with nostalgia, of the years just concluded at West Point. Colonel Pennant on duty at the post, Jeff a cadet, Mimi a bride; Julia at home week ends and vacations from boarding school.

I had been there one never-to-be-forgotten June Week the year Charlie graduated; but I had not known Julia then. It was a strange feeling to remember that week—the hops, the parades, the baseball games, the horse shows.

POISON GAS

At this time it may be of interest to go back over the history of poison gas in the war which broke out in 1914.

Certain forms of poison gas had been used in ancient times and in the Middle Ages. They had been obtained by burning sulphur and pitch. It was believed, however, that this kind of weapon had been ruled out of modern war.

In 1907 the Hague Convention had adopted the rule, "It is expressly forbidden to employ poison or poisoned arms in warfare." It has been claimed that the rule did not include poison gas, but the Allies, at least, did not feel free to use it.

In October, 1914, the Germans bombarded a French army with shrapnel which contained a poisonous substance. That "secret" weapon failed to do much damage.

British soldiers, showing equipment "A" contains gas mask, "B" is anti-gas cape rolled up on back. Ammunition is carried in cases marked "C", "D" is haversack.

In April, 1915, the Germans let loose clouds of poison gas on Canadian troops. This surprise attack "stopped all resistance to a depth of several miles."

In later months both sides used tons of poison gas. Methods were found to place it in shells fired from cannon. When the shells burst they spread the fearful substance.

Masks cut down the injuries, but poison gas killed thousands of men and hurt great numbers of others.

The most deadly gases used were chlorine, phosgene and prussic acid. One of these was of such power that it could cause death in a very short time if a person breathed air which contained a good deal of it, he died within a few minutes.

Other gases were not so deadly, but were used because they put men out of action. One of these was "tear gas" which attacked the eyes and made tears flow. When a soldier was suffering in that way he could not resist the attack of the enemy.

Mustard gas, also, was widely employed. It caused trouble on the eyes and skin, and on the lining of the lungs.

Memory of the gas horror of the World war led the nations of Europe to fear it when it opened in September of last year. Women and children, as well as men, were provided with gas masks.

Stars Repeat Victory Over Loop Champs

Junior League Title Holders Beaten, 4-2, On Soggy Diamond

Menasha — All-Stars of the Junior Baseball league repeated their victory over the First ward Reds, league champions, Sunday morning at the Menasha baseball park by a 4 to 2 score. Last year the Reds won the league crown and lost a 9 to 8 decision to the All-Stars in the final game.

The diamond was soggy with several puddles of water from the recent rains but there was only one error in the game. Len Schipferling, second ward, limited the champion Reds to six hits. His teammates came through with errorless support but it was the outfield which gave the All-Stars the victory.

In the first John Skalmoski after a long run caught a ball which was sailing over his head to end the inning with one run in and another runner stranded on base. In the fourth frame the Reds scored another run but a peg from John Baldauf to James Bretthauer cut down the second baserunner at the plate as he tried to score. In the fifth a Red runner tried to score from second on a hit to center and was thrown out by Hillard Kozlowski.

The All-Stars collected enough runs in the first inning to win. Clement Gavinski opened with a single and two runners were safe when Ambrose Naleway threw wild to second in an attempt to force Gavinski. Skalmoski followed with a smash down the third base line to lead the bases.

Ciske singled out to left with Gavinski scoring after the catch. Baldauf was hit by a pitched ball and Bretthauer drew a walk, forcing Weber home. Skalmoski scored while Kozlowski was being thrown out.

The Reds rallied with a run in the first. E. Naleway opened with a single but was trapped off first and tagged out. A Jakubek was hit by a pitched ball and advanced on two passed balls. He scored on a double by Swamp.

In the fourth the All-Stars had three hits but failed to score. Kozlowski fanned. Grode and L. Schipferling singled. Gavinski was safe at first but forced Grode at third. Weber singled to right but Schipferling was out at the plate on a peg from D. Jakubek to A. Naleway to E. Naleway.

The Reds got their second run in the fourth when Harvey Swamp clouted his second double. He advanced when A. Naleway was thrown out and, after Marx walked and advanced to second, Swamp scored on R. Jakubek's hit. Marx was out at the plate trying to score. In the next frame Kozlowski ended the Red threat by throwing out E. Naleway at home on A. Jakubek's hit. The Reds made no more threats to score.

The All-Stars got their final run in the ninth. Gavinski walked and advanced to second when Weber singled. Ciske singled to score Gavinski.

The All-Stars touched Naleway for nine hits and four walks while four were fanned. Schipferling fanned five and walked three. Each pitcher hit one batter. Swamp had the only extra base blows with his two doubles. L. Schipferling had three of the All-Star hits while Weber had two.

Miss Bernice Ulrich won over Miss Helen Hauser, three and two and will meet Mrs. G. W. Loomans in the second round.

Veterans Hold Eagles to Tie

Both Teams Look Toward Next Season After 7-All Battle

Menasha — Old-Timers of the Menasha Eagles and the 1940 Eagle team of the Winnebago league are looking forward to the next baseball season. The two teams battled to a 7 to 7 draw in five innings through the mud in a preliminary game Sunday afternoon at the Menasha park. Each contingent is muttering "next year."

The 1940 team opened with three runs in the first on hits by Zielinski and Frank Schipferling and a homer by Brandt. The 1940 team collected 11 hits off E. Schipferling, while Pavel allowed the Old-Timers only three.

The Old-Timers collected two runs in the second on a hit by Zielinski and a walk to Pointo and a couple of outs Grabner and Brehm came through with hits to give the 1940 team a run in the second. Frank Schipferling had a double to lead the attack that scored the final three runs for the 1940 team in the third.

The Old-Timers rallied in the fifth on a double by Peck and a walk for five runs and a tie game. The game was called to permit the game between Omro and All-Stars of the Winnebago league at 2 o'clock.

Schedule Second Meeting for U. W. Center Students

Menasha — The second informational meeting for students interested in enrolling in the University of Wisconsin freshmen center sponsored by the Menasha vocational school will be held at 7:30 Wednesday night in the activities room at Menasha High school.

Full class schedules, hours for meetings of classes, assignment of classroom, laboratory periods, list of instructors and other information will be available at the meeting. All interested students and parents have been invited to attend.

Freshmen and sophomore classes will begin at 9 o'clock next Monday morning in the vocational wing of the high school. Applications indicate that the freshmen classes will be filled to capacity. Enrolments have been received from Menasha, Neenah, St. Mary's Appleton, Birmahwood, Antigo, Milwaukee, Chicago, Seymour, Kimberly and Kaukauna High school graduates.

At the meeting Wednesday evening, students may complete their registrations and select their class schedules. Admission to the freshmen center is the same as admission to the University of Wisconsin at Madison. Blanks for this purpose are available in all high school offices.

Rubbish Wednesday

Menasha — Rubbish will be collected in the fourth district on Wednesday, according to H. O. Haugh, city health officer. The district includes Sixth street and the area north to the city limits.

Two Neenah Tavern Operators Arrested On Lottery Charges

Neenah — Two Neenah tavern operators, Gilbert Joseph Rouse, who owns the Bungalow tavern, 313 N. Commercial street, and Mrs. Barbara Hahl, who operates the Hahl tavern, 210 Main street, were each fined $50 and costs or an alternative of 60 days in the Winnebago county jail when they pleaded guilty of selling lottery tickets in their taverns when arraigned this morning before Justice of the Peace Gaylord C. Loehning.

Neenah police, who arrested the defendants Saturday night, charged them with operating "tip jars" in their establishments. Search warrants had been secured by police.

Record Number Is Enrolled at Neenah School

One New Course Is Added; No Changes in Staff, Holzman Says

Neenah — The annual fall trek to Neenah schools was underway this morning with a new record in enrollment established at Neenah High school.

Principal J. H. Holzman reported that the enrollment on the opening morning was approximately 769, which was slightly more than last year. The enrollment on the first day last year was 757. When final checks on enrollment are made today and tomorrow, it is expected that the number of students will be slightly higher.

One new course has been added this year to the high school curriculum, the principal reported. It is advanced machine shop and will be taught by Clarence Brendekilde to seniors who have completed the course in elementary machine shop.

No Staff Changes There were no changes in the teaching staff this year, and Principal Holzman reported that it is the first time since he has been principal that there were no changes. There were several new teachers added in the grade schools, however.

A general assembly for a patriotic program was held this morning at the high school. C. F. Hedges, superintendent, and Holzman talked to the students. Lillian Quandt and Polly Drahman, editors of the Cub, high school newspaper, also addressed the students. Calvin Krenger led the salute to the flag and Lester Mais, band director, led the students in patriotic songs.

The first edition of the Cub was scheduled to be published this afternoon.

Book Circulation at Menasha Library Is More Than Last Year

Menasha — Circulation of books at Elsie D. Smith library during August amounted to 8,715 volumes, an increase over the corresponding month of 1939 when the total was 8,179. The average daily circulation last month was 322 books.

Volumes issued on teachers cards were 357 while rural readers drew 338 books. Students at the library numbered 1,039 of whom 53 received assistance. Attendance was estimated at 1,838. Forty-eight new readers were registered.

The library staff repaired 202 volumes and 112 new books were released for circulation. Fines collected amounted to $13.30.

Germania Society to Prepare for Election

Menasha — Officers of the Germania Benevolent society will be nominated at 7:30 this evening at Germania hall. The annual election will be held by ballot next Monday at the hall.

Keplers of the Germania league will meet at 7 o'clock tonight preceding the regular society meeting to plan for the season, according to Harold Berro, secretary. Members of the society and their families held a Labor day picnic with a free dance yesterday.

Llewellyn Wins Golf Title at Ridgeway Club

Defeats Ira Clough In Final Match for 1940 Championship

Menasha — Jerry Llewellyn won the championship of Ridgeway Golf club Saturday by defeating Ira Clough, three and two, in a 36-hole match. Llewellyn finished the first 18 three-up on Clough although both had high scores. Llewellyn had an 85 to 88 for Clough.

In the second Clough rallied to cut down the margin only to have Llewellyn increase his lead again. Both shot better golf on the second round, finishing with scores of 79 each. Llewellyn won the president's flight in 1939.

Parker Schultz defeated Lyle Williams for the vice president flight championship by a three and two score. Williams won the secretary championship in 1939. All championship matches except in the championship flight, were 18 holes.

Harry Thomack defeated G. W. Unser for the secretary flight championship in the closest match in the finals. His margin was two and one.

Don Seager previously had won the presidents flight championship. His margin was six and four over Elmer Totzke.

All-Stars Defeat 'Bagoland League Champions, 8 to 1

Menasha — All-Stars of the Winnebago league hammered an 8 to 1 victory over Omro, league champions, Sunday afternoon at the Menasha baseball park. Schubert of the Oshkosh Shippers homered with two on in the third inning.

Fenn, Oshkosh Shippers, limited the Omro team to eight hits while the All-Stars collected 11 blows off Middlestead. Fenn scattered the six hits he allowed in as many innings and was scored on in only the seventh frame.

Frank Schipferling, Ernie Koerner and Brandt of the Menasha Eagles were members of the All-Star team. Following the game a luncheon was served at Eagles hall and a dance for all players of the league and their friends was held in the evening.

Hollywood—I want to get something off my chest. In a current fan magazine is a story lauding the "courage" of Hollywood producers because "they gamble millions on their pictures without definite means of pre-determining public approval." There have been many such.

I'm getting fed up with them. They misrepresent a fact. You could count on the fingers of one hand the Hollywood producers who invest their own money in pictures. The millions they gamble so "courageously" belong to financiers—popularly known in the industry as "angels" and to small stockholders who have no active voice in studio production policies.

Most producers who bank in the spotlight are glorified hired hands. True, they've succeeded in boosting their pay scale to an imagination-staggering high, and under a lush system they continue to draw their fat paychecks irrespective of the success or failure of their pictures. There are producers in this business who have been making $100,000 a year and up for a decade or more—and never once have their films been profitable enough to pay stockholders a decent dividend.

If we must dish out awards for courage, let's bestow them where they properly belong—on bankers who hold the bag, and on small investors who deserve better treatment and more consideration from the Olympian Joves who have mismanaged their affairs.

IDOL CHATTER: In modern Hollywood a man has two choices—he can be a yes-man or a no-account. Peas-in-a-pod: Ida Lupino and ex-stardust Helen Twelvetree. Too bad Mickey Rooney's missing college—what a freshman that kid would have made. Nominated for the most-consistent-hit-performance award: Cary Grant, with a record of eight consecutive b. o. smashes. Gilbert Roland doesn't wear armor—but he does have a tip top rating for night errantry. In-a-word description of Hugh Herbert: mugg-nut. The Taylor-Stanwyck bliss still must be at flood tide—he phones three times every day.

Albert Basserman, who fled Germany to escape Nazi wrath, tells this yarn to illustrate the Hitlerites' lack of humor. After the final scene of a play staged in Berlin in 1938, the entire audience arose, came to attention, and gave the Nazi salute. The actors, of course, returned it. But while everyone else lowered his arm, the troupe's comedian continued to hold his aloft. Then, as the audience stared in appalled silence, he cracked: "The snow was THIS deep in the Tyrol last winter." Next day he was in a concentration camp.

CONFIDENTIAL COMMUNIQUE: To Peter Lind Hayes: If you and Mary Healy are really in love, why postpone marriage to wait for more professional success. Happiness doesn't depend on income or stardom. If you rate it you'll get there with "secondary" roles—and you should know, by now, what happens to gals who get ahead too fast. . . . Johnny Weissmuller: Can't you sell your bosses the idea of producing a screen "Aquacade"? Swimming's more popular than skating—and look what happened to Sonja Henie!

Bricks Fly When Car Fails to Make Curve

Menasha—A car driven by Carl Roznoski, Oshkosh, damaged the building at the southwest corner of Manitowish and Third streets at 1:25 this morning when Roznoski failed to make a left turn off Plank road onto Manitowish street, Police Chief Alex Slomski reported.

The car knocked off a street sign, bounded over a curb and terrace about 3 feet high and struck the southeast corner of the building in which Anton Pawlowski has a tavern. The impact knocked a section of brick from the corner of the building about 6 feet high and three feet wide. The car was damaged but Roznoski was not injured.

Two Men Plead Guilty To Drunkenness Charge

Neenah—Two men, John Cheslock, 23, 804 Racine street, Menasha, and Ernest Ehrhart, 40, 313 First street, Neenah, were fined $3 and costs each when they pleaded guilty of drunkenness before Justice of the Peace Elmer H. Radtke. Neenah police arrested Cheslock Saturday night and Ehrhart Monday morning.

Neenah—Members of the Hendy Recreation Women's league will meet at 7:30 tonight at the Hendy alleys to make plans for the season which will open Wednesday. New and old members of the league have been invited to attend the meeting by Mrs. Ethel Fischer, president.

Marriage Licenses

Post-Crescent Oshkosh Bureau
Oshkosh — Applications for marriage licenses were made to A. E. Hedke, Winnebago county clerk, by the following couples today: Frank G. Burroughs, 4214 Second street, Menasha, and Rachel E. Massey, 400 Broad street, Menasha; Clarence A. Erdmann, 312 E. Franklin avenue, Neenah, and Hilda C. Ryt, route 4, Oshkosh; Clifford J. Arndt, High Cliff, and Margaret E. Birling, route 1, Menasha; Edward J. Parry, Clintonville, and Joyce A. Frederick, route 1, Fremont.

Planes Grounded

Menasha — Rain Saturday afternoon forced postponement of the model airplane flying contest scheduled for Whiting airport by the Aeronauts club under the direction of Lee Royer, WPA recreation director. Several trial flights had been made when a shower made further flights impossible.

Drives Unregistered Car; Fined $5, Costs

Post-Crescent Oshkosh Bureau
Oshkosh — Garth Lees, 514 N. Oneida street, Appleton, pleaded guilty of operating an unregistered car and was fined $5 and costs this morning before Judge D. E. McDonald in municipal court. He was arrested Monday in the town of Vinland. His license was suspended until he shows proof of financial responsibility.

Church Conference Will be Held Sept. 12

Neenah — The second quarterly conference of the First Evangelical church will be held Thursday evening at the church. The Rev. Roy W. Borg, pastor, will be in charge of the conference.

The church school board of the First Evangelical church will meet at 7:30 Thursday evening, Sept. 5, at the church.

Taken to Hospital

Menasha — Mrs. Rose Schreibeis, who suffered a stroke at the home of her brother, Philip Schierl, Broad street, Saturday morning has been removed to St. Elizabeth hospital, Appleton. Her condition is serious.

Award Prizes To 4 Floats in Parade Monday

3 Children's Entries Judged Outstanding At Firemen's Event

New London — Four floats and three children's entries were awarded prizes in the annual Labor day parade sponsored by the New London in connection with their 3-day homecoming celebration at Hatten park.

The four outstanding floats were those of the American Legion and auxiliary, Dave's Service, Tribby Hardware and Knapstein Brewery. Children receiving prizes were Betty Jane and Patricia Eckhart with their Red Cross ambulance, Dale and Kurt Schoenrock and Dale Dean with their Uncle Sam, and little Joan Hilde, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Hilde, as a Red Cross nurse with a pet dog in her buggy.

The parade was led by the American Legion color guard and the New London High school band, followed by horsemen, members of union locals Plywood 2890 and Edison 1642 and their auxiliaries, floats, comics, the Winniecoona German band, a small unit of National Guardsmen from Clintonville, Girl Scouts Troop 2, children's entries, fire trucks, and commercial cars, trucks and farm tractors.

A false alarm turned in by some unknown prankster during the middle of the parade failed to disrupt the procession. Firemen stopped one truck to reach the nearest telephone and the alarm was quickly discovered to be a fake.

Mary Jane Blissett Leaves for Navarino To Begin Teaching

New London — Miss Mary Jane Blissett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. O. Blissett, left Monday to accept her first teaching job at Navarino, Wis. She graduated from Oak-kosh State Teachers college last year. Her younger sister, Miss Millicent, a graduate of New London High school in 1938, will leave Sept. 9 to attend teachers college at Stevens Point this year.

Miss Charlotte Dent, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Dent, returned Monday to vocational school at Antigo. Her guest here during the weekend was Miss Eileen Wagner of Antigo with whom she returned.

Mr. and Mrs. Homer Churchill, 1410 Smith street, left Sunday on a week's vacation trip through northern Wisconsin and Michigan.

FONDA IN NEW PICTURE—Even more thrilling than the unforgettable "Jesse James," is "The Return of Frank James," new technicolor production booked to open Thursday at the Rio theater. The all star cast is headed by Henry Fonda and marks the screen debut of lovely Gene Tierney. Co-featured on the same program is "Golden Gloves," starring Jean Cagney.

Ladies Aid Will Map Plans For Mission Sunday Festival

New London—Plans for the annual mission Sunday festival will be made by the Ladies Aid society of the Emanuel Lutheran church at its regular meeting at the church Thursday afternoon. A chicken dinner will be served to the public at the church parlors next Sunday noon in honor of the occasion.

On the committee for Thursday are Mrs. Eldor Schoenrock and Mrs. Herman Roos, chairmen, Mrs. Fred Reuler, Mrs. William Reberg, Mrs. Walter Raschke, Mrs. Henry Ruh-sam, Mrs. John Sawall, Mrs. Gus Sawall, Mrs. Frank Schoenrock, Jr., Mrs. Rosaline Schoenrock, Mrs. Rosie Schmidt, Mrs. Oscar Schneider and Mrs. Elmer Roloff.

Members of the Stay-at-Home club entertained at Mrs. Charles Abrams' Friday afternoon in honor of Mrs. H. H. Brockhaus, a former club member, who left today for her home at Forest Grove, Ore., after spending the summer here. Hostesses at a 1 o'clock luncheon were Mrs. E. C. Jost, Mrs. James Lock-year, Mrs. Edward Meinhardt and Mrs. Abrams. Besides the guest of honor, other guests of the club were Mrs. J. Y. Potter, Mrs. F. L. Zaig and Mrs. George Demming. Mrs. Potter and Mrs. D. O. Blissett won prizes at cards.

The E. O. U. club held a picnic at Monsted's resort at Lake Poygan Friday afternoon and a 6 o'clock dinner was served. Mrs. G. A. Vandree and Mrs. W. B. Viel entertained. Guests were two visitors of Mrs. G. E. Lutsey, Miss Gwendolyn Watson of Fond du Lac and Mrs. Lee Jilison of Portage. In another two weeks Mrs. R. C. Dauterman and Mrs. C. C. Seims will entertain.

The Ladies Aid society of the Congregational church will resume meetings this week marking the close of the summer vacation. The meeting will follow at 1 o'clock luncheon Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. C. C. Seims. Assisting hostesses will be Mrs. Milo DeGroff and Mrs. George Schlegel.

Dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. M. F. Abraham Sunday were Mrs. Abraham's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Weltzien of Appleton, and Mrs. Theresa Abraham. Attending the

Bowling Association Meets Wednesday to Map Season's Plans

New London—The annual organization meeting of the City Bowling association will be held at Phahl's alleys Wednesday evening for all leagues interested in membership. Members bowled under official A. B. C. regulations. It is planned to have a full schedule of league bowling under way by the end of the following week.

Present officers are Sylvester Stern, president; E. F. Buelow, secretary-treasurer; Arthur Gottschalk and W. B. Viel, vice presidents.

The Waupaca County Classic league will meet at Parish alleys, Waupaca, this evening to organize for the season. Iola and Weyauwega teams are being considered to make the league an 8-team circuit.

Elroy Stern Buys Rasmussen Dwelling On E. Quincy Street

New London—Elroy Stern, 217 W. Spring street, has purchased the Rasmussen home at 620 E. ## Pensions Will Exhaust Funds

Old Age Assistance Money to be Used Up Before End of Year

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau Madison—Although the rate of the increase in the old age pension load is slackening, state funds appropriated for old age pensions will become exhausted before the end of the present budget year, an examination of state welfare funds showed here today, meaning that the 1941 legislature which convenes in January will have to turn its attention immediately to a deficiency appropriation.

Although blind and dependent children's pension funds appear to be adequate for the remainder of the budget period, there will be a deficit of at least half a million dollars in the budget for old age assistance, according to official state figures.

Thus unless the legislature makes available a deficiency appropriation, old age pension funds in the state treasury will have to be prorated next winter, with two alterations: a decrease in the average benefit paid, or an increase in the localities' share paid out of general property taxes.

A recent estimate of expenditures for the 1940-41 fiscal year shows that in Wisconsin more than $23,000,000 will be spent for old age assistance, blind pensions and aid to dependent children.

Meanwhile state officials finished a study of state relief financing and concluded that despite slender financial resources in that field, there will be a sufficient revenue from relief surtaxes during the next year to meet the state's share of general relief costs, assuming that the proportion of participation established in recent months is maintained.

During the last year the average monthly disbursement of relief funds by the state emergency board has been under $150,000, or less than 10 per cent of the total cost in Wisconsin for direct relief. The balance is borne by the local units of government. Recent payments of inheritance surtaxes in relatively large chunks, and the anticipated receipt of several others of considerable amount, make it unlikely that the state will have trouble continuing monthly disbursements at the existing level, according to Charles McKeown, financial secretary to Governor Heil and advisor to the state emergency board.

Measles Reported

Only one case of contagion was reported in Outagamie county for the week ended Aug. 24, according to the report of the state board of health, received by Miss Marie Klein, county nurse. The case was one of measles reported at Kaukauna.

Clapper Questions Willkie's Stand on Plant Commandeering

BY RAYMOND CLAPPER

Washington—There is no reason why President Roosevelt should duck the question put by Wendell Willkie as to whether he favors the Overton-Russell conscription bill amendment which would give the government authority to commandeer manufacturing plants or facilities needed for defense.

Clapper

In his flat opposition to this amendment Willkie has stuck his neck out. Roosevelt ought to meet the issue. If this emergency is so grave that we must conscript men, then it is grave enough to warrant the government having a club behind the door against those contractors who would hold up the government, or would refuse to take its business in preference for more profitable foreign orders as has been the case in some instances cited by navy officers in recent senate committee testimony.

The morale of this country, which is a most serious need right now, will not be stimulated by being hard-boiled about drafting men and soft-boiled toward those upon whom we must rely for guns, tanks, planes and other equipment. We cannot sternly summon men to duty and refuse to summon plant facilities to duty when they fail to volunteer.

In his acceptance speech, Willkie said he did not promise to take the democracy down the easy road. If elected, he said, "I shall lead you down the road of sacrifice and of service to your country." Was he talking to the prospective troops only and not to the equipment contractors? Willkie is displaying a touchy tenderness about them that takes some meat out of his demand for stern sacrifice. The Overton-Russell amendment is less arbitrary than the commandeering authority given the army in the defense act of 1916, passed more than a year before we went into the World war. That act provided for commandeering "at a reasonable price as determined by the secretary of war." The recent navy commandeering provision now on the books and which the house subsequently voted to repeal gives the secretary of navy similar authority, to fix compensation.

Some refinements in phraseology may be desirable in the Overton-Russell amendment. For instance the term "facilities" might conceivably include press and radio, as has been pointed out. The one safeguard a democracy has is freedom of discussion. By that means we test the wisdom of our decisions. It is our supreme corrective. The amendment should clearly remove any doubt on that point. When you retain free discussion you retain the one corrective weapon a democracy has—the weapon that distinguishes strong democracy from dictatorship.

We cannot go into the kind of emergency preparations that con-

Government Always Has Right of Condemnation The Overton-Russell act provides that compensation shall be fixed through condemnation by court action. We are apt to forget that the government always has the right to condemn property, subject to compensation through court proceedings. This amendment does not change that right except that it would give the government possession of the property when the proceedings are begun instead of upon their conclusion, a provision intended to prevent a loss of time while the case is in the courts. This is an infinitely more fair arrangement for the protection of the private business man. The important thing about such legislation as this is not that it will be used extensively but that it rests as a club behind the door so that the government is not left at the mercy of chiselling contractors in defense preparations. The old war industries board had commandeering power to be used in emergencies and because it was there it did not have to be used. Chairman Baruch got his results almost entirely by voluntary methods.

200 Present at Beckman Reunion

New London — Nearly 200 attended the first reunion of the Beckman family at Bear Lake Sunday and plans were made to meet again in three years at the same place. Officers elected were George Beckman, Manawa, president; Frank Beckman, New London, vice president; Mrs. Matt Fenske, Manawa, secretary, and Henry Beckman, Chicago, treasurer.

The reunion broke up in late afternoon but brothers and sisters of the family continued reminiscences in the evening at the home of George Beckman at Manawa.

Potato Tour Planned In Waupaca County

Waupaca — In cooperation with the University of Wisconsin College of Agriculture, Waupaca County Agent Victor Buick, and potato growers of the community will sponsor a potato tour for the county.

On Wednesday, the growers will meet at the Ed Kobiske farm on Highway 10, and visit the test plots on the farm which were planted last June. Eighteen different strains of late and medium late potatoes were planted and many interesting results have shown up.

From the Kobiske farm a tour of other farms will be made which will last about four hours and include many phases of potato work being carried on by the college of agriculture.

Coincidence

Winchester, Va. — Bert Cochran and W. A. Leslie, who have worked 25 years in the same division of a rubber company at Akron, Ohio, left on their vacations. When Cochran arrived at a tourist camp here, he met Leslie. Neither had known where the other was going.

scription suggests without having it clear that the government is not to be left helpless at the mercy of contractors for equipment. True, that is not our normal peace-time way. Neither is conscription. Neither are the huge deficits and the huge taxes this program involves. This is rather early in the game for Willkie to be rushing to the wailing wall.
